R.O.T.C. HOLDS FIRST PARADE OF TERM

Commandant Reed Pleased With Initial Showing of Drexel Unit

Wednesday afternoon, November 3, witnessed the first Drexel R. O. T. C. parade of the year. The military ceremony was conducted by the Battalion Headquarters Staff with Lieutenant Oggenfuss acting as Battalion Adjutant. Lieutenant Swift acted as commander of the parade.

The R. O. T. C. Band led by Staff Sergeant McCormick, of the 26th Infantry, stationed at the Sesqui, furnished the music for the parade. Twenty-eight pieces of field music joined in a voluminous sound as the band marched and counter-marched across the front of the Battalion.

Captain Reed was connected with the 26th Infantry before coming to Drexel.

The members of the Headquarters Staff were pleased with the way the troops kept their alignment and executed eyes right in passing in review.

This year there are only four companies, A, B, C, and D. Last year there was an extra company, E. Since there are more students this year taking R. O. T. C. than any other year, the platoons are larger, more nearly approximating war strength organizations.

Before the year is over a battalion headquarters staff will be chosen, with a Cadet Lieutenant-Colonel, Cadet Major and a number of Cadet Captains.

This year's work in R. O. T. C., it is hoped, will eclipse the work of all the previous years. Last year's work was conceded by all to be the best in the history of the school.

NATTY UNIFORMS ON MEN

Thirty members of the Senior and Junior Classes of Advanced R. O. T. C. have purchased the latest regulation uniform with the rolled-down collar and the John Pershing cap. The uniforms were made by Jacob Reed's Sons from individual measurements taken by expert tailors at the school.

To finish off the effect, six members of the Senior Class in M. T. purchased boots in preference to the leather puttees.

Now in the future Battalion Parades, and on Field Day, the Cadet commanders will be all dressed up for the event with clanking spurs and natty uniforms to enhance their manly appearance.

"HOWDAH" DO!

The Drexel Institute Museum has just received from the heirs of the late Dr. Charles S. Braddock, Jr., an ancient elephant howdah, or saddle. The presentation is made in the name of his nephews: Charles Braddock Middleton, his namesake; Carlton Braddock Webb, instructor, Drexel Evening School; John Wesley Anderson, Jr., Drexel Evening School; Edwin Braddock Middleton, Drexel Institute, 1926.

There existed two of these ancient howdahs, one being presented to a Mr. Strobel, American advisor to the King of Siam. The second was presented to Dr. Braddock, in 1907, by Prince Damrong, minister of the interior and half brother of the King, Chulalongkorn, for his work as chief medical inspector of the Kingdom of Siam. This particular howdah is known to be over 220 years old and was once the property of the Governor of the Province of Petchaburi.

As Mr. Strobel died in Siam, it seems a certainty that this howdah is the only one of its kind in this country today.

HELEN BAKER CHOSEN HEAD OF SENIOR GIRLS' CLASS

Is First Philadelphia Girl to Be Honored at Drexel

Helen Baker was recently elected as president of the Girls' Senior Class, in a meeting of the Senior girls.

Incidentally, she is the first Philadelphia girl in many years to be so honored by her classmates. Miss Baker is prominent in the student activities of Drexel, being president of the Home Economics Club, vice-president of the Student Government and Secretary of the Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority.

The other officers elected at the meeting were Mary Louise Warner, vice-president of the class; Lois Beck, treasurer, and Elsie Crosbie, secretary. Evelyn Eagleson was chosen representative on the executive board for the Senior Class. Elizabeth Darlington was chosen Senior Class Representative on the Lexerd, the annual year book put out by the senior class.

Miss Baker lives at 5928 Latona street, West Philadelphia, and was graduated from the Catholic Girls' High School of Philadelphia. She has been connected with the literary activities of the Institute, having served on both the "Drexlerd" and the "Triangle" editorial staffs.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club made its first appearance for the season at the Assembly, November 10th, and many of the students have expressed their appreciation of the recital.

The Glee Club, which will soon have eighty voices, expects to sing over the radio, so watch out for the night and have your radio turned on and get your batteries charged free.

There is no doubt that they have a worth-while organization and above all have started a tradition, which is what Drexel wants.

DIETITIANS' CLUB

Drexel has a Dietitians Club which met for the first time on November 10 at 216 North 34th street, at 4 o'clock. Miss Baker is advisor to the club and every dietitian is eligible for membership. Election of officers for the year were held with the following results: President, Helen Dana; vice-president, Adelaide Miller; secretary and treasurer, Roberta Dare.

The club has plans for the year and expects to co-operate with the Philadelphia Dietitians Club by having several representatives from the Drexel group going to the lectures of the larger groups.

A meeting of the club will be held once a month. The purpose is to get the dietitians interested as a group in every day dietetic subjects and also to form a friendly, sociable group of the girls interested in the same field of work.

THE PAN HOP

Whom of you did not recall that May Frolic of last year, on first sight of the palm bestrewn stairway, and of the garland bedecked chandelier, on Saturday night? Indeed, the first big Court dance of the year, and so beautifully executed. The spirit of the thing was wonderful, everyone seemed to sense the freedom and benevolence of the whole affair. Dr. and Mrs. Matheson, Miss MacIntyre, Miss Crawley, Miss Baldwin, Miss Godfrey, Miss Chapman and Mr. Ryder were the patrons and patronesses. Johnny Grissinger furnished the music and the pep, which spirited septentine from head to head. Ah! what thirst he can create to send one to seeking a bowl of sparkling punch! Indeed, he can create a sound for sore ears, and many tired toes tingled with that irresistible melody at the Pan Hop.

DREXEL STUDENTS OBSERVE ARMISTICE

Prominent Speaker in Assembly and Battalion Parade Part of Ceremonies

The student body of Drexel Institute joined in with the rest of the nation to observe Armistice Day. The day before the official observance—Wednesday, November 10—Dr. Mutch, rector of the Presbyterian Church of Bryn Mawr, Pa., was the principal speaker in the Assembly. He spoke of the sacrifices of the Drexel men and the other brave men of this nation who gave up their lives in the war.

Immediately after assembly, the twenty-eight piece band, under the leadership of Cadet Hardester, played appropriate selections in the Great Court. At the conclusions of the concert, Staff Sergeant McCormick, of the Sesqui 26th Infantry Band, led the Drexel band in the National Anthem.

The observance was completed in the afternoon by a battalion parade and review. Despite the stiff breezes that blew from the northwest, that scattered dust and sand all over the students and lifted their hats high into the air, the drill and parade was conducted to the satisfaction of the battalion leaders. Cadet Lieutenant Sukin acted as battalian adjutant while Cadet Lieutenant Tepper was the battalion commander.

NEW STRING ORCHESTRA

Were you at the Freshman tea last Friday? And did you hear the String Orchestra? Everything seems to indicate that it is going to be quite a success, if the musicians live up to what they have begun. "Bye Bye, Blackbird" and "Hi-Ho the Merrio" were the two favorite selections rendered.

The Orchestra consists of four ukeleles, two banjos, several mandolins, violins and the piano. Our Mr. Ryder thoughtfully donated music which helped considerably.

As a new venture the Orchestra has proved very interesting, and the players seem to be full of life. With a little support they will soon rival the "Drexel Tormentors," and the best of the other Drexel orchestras.

VESPERS

The Vesper service is now being held in 216 rather than 214.

Grace Niles led a very interesting service on Sunday. The Glee Club Girls offered a number, sung softly and effectively. Then Miss Niles discussed the Scripture lesson and gave the girls a chance to express their viewpoint. It was rather a surprise to the girls, who were thus given an opportunity to voice their opinions. They felt that a little clear-thinking on a worthwhile subject was refreshing. All Drexel girls are invited for future meetings.

3309-11 FORMAL DINNER

A whole hall full of bright reds, greens and yellows, shimmering scarfs and white shoulders. A formal dinner. The dining room was decorated in orange and black, black-cat favors, and crepe paper around the doors. It was like the spirit of Halloween. After demi-tasse, Mr. Hollowell gave a short, interesting talk, followed by a few words from Miss Dorsey, and an original poem by Mrs. Jacobs. Mr. and Mrs. Hollowell, Miss Dorsey, Mrs. Jacobs and Dr. Taft were the guests of honor. After the dinner most of the girls adjourned for the house dances.

ELECTRICALS SECURE SPRING CONVENTION FOR DREXEL

The Drexel Branch, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will be hosts to the Philadelphia regional group of college branches, which comprise Delaware, Drexel, Haverford, Lafayette, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, Villanova, Princeton, Swarthmore for the student convention to be held next spring.

The convention was held last year at Swarthmore with great success. The Drexel branch is an ideal place to have a large attendance, because of its central location and its accessibility. Furthermore, Drexel feels able to give an excellent program, especially with regard to the inspection trips which are one of the features of the meeting. The proximity to the big industries and the normal relations with them gives Drexel plenty of choice in that respect.

The successful meetings at Pennsylvania and Swarthmore in the past make it necessary for Drexel to extend every effort to better the convention. The Electricals intend to do so and enlist the aid of every student, whether members of A. I. E. E. or not to make these visitors enjoy themselves while they are here.

COLLEGE CLIPPINGS

The University of Oregon boasts of having the youngest member of the American Legion enrolled in its student body as a freshman. He was a mascot in the A. E. F. at the age of ten.

Students at the University of Illinois have been forbidden to use cars. Consequently all the horses and buggies available have been put into service as a means of transportation. The phrase at Illinois is "Thanks for the buggy ride."

All students registering at Stanford University are asked to sign an honor pledge. It reads as follows: "I agree to live up to the letter and spirit of the student honor system by honesty in all my personal conduct and by neither giving nor receiving unpermitted aid in the examinations, class exercises, reports or any other work that is to be used by the instructor as a basis of grading. If I violate this pledge, I agree to withdraw from the university."

As a result of a recent resolution, two all-university dances will be held each month at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. These will be under the direction of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and will be held in the college gymnasium.

Students of Mountain Home College in Arkansas are permitted to pay their tuition in ham, eggs, sorghum or butter. The college caters almost entirely to mountaineers.

At the University of Wichita cash prizes are given as rewards for the best college songs and yells. These prizes are offered by three professors of the faculty. The contest is open to both undergraduates and alumni.

FRESHMEN COUNCIL

The Freshmen are on the road to activity at last. It was thought they might never get started, but now the fight is on. The Student House Board has chosen ten girls to serve on the Freshman Council, to direct the destiny of our many newcomers. Under the direction of Betty MacDowell, it has tried to choose representative girls who will prove a real asset to Drexel Institute. The board consists of Willa Bradt, Dorothy Scott, Mildred Snyder, Mabel Armstrong, Frances Mead and Rubey Anderson.

HENSHAW PLEASED WITH NEW BOXERS

Has Good Squad of Mittmen

By LEE SHILS

Under the able coaching of Professor Henshaw, the Drexel Boxers are gradually rounding into shape. Coach Henshaw was amateur heavyweight boxing champion of Indianapolis in 1922, and in addition has sparred considerably with professional boxers. As a result he is well qualified to instruct in the "manly art of self-defense."

Should boxing be enthusiastically received by the students, there is a great possibility that a team will be organized to represent Drexel against mittmen of other institutions. Meanwhile the erstwhile boxers are meeting every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 P. M., on which occasions they give and receive varying amounts of punishment. There is a promising squad out and should their conditions permit, it is likely that intramural contests will soon be held.

Among those that are showing form at this early date are Schultheis, a pug-nacious middleweight, who has seen service with Penn State's boxers; Bill Paul, an aggressive, hard-hitting featherweight; Brandt, a handy welter; and Skok, a crude middle with great possibilities. Walters, a lightweight, and Edelman, a welter, are coming around nicely under the watchful eye of their coach.

There are many men with latent ability who have turned out to the practices. There are many more who have not turned out. When the latter once have the gloves on, they will be out regularly, for the thrill in being able to handle one's "persuaders" is irresistible. Candidates for the squad should sign up with Lee Shils, squad manager.

MILADY PLAYS FOOTBALL

A new page in Kentucky football history was written in Louisville when girl gladiators met on the gridiron in a regulation contest with referee, forward passes and everything!

The Anchorage High School Mules, captained by Miss Lettie Bliss, defeated the highly touted Peewee Valley Cyclones, under the leadership of Miss Mary Barr.

All of the team members were attired in approval football regalia with the exception that grid shoes were eliminated because the local sporting stores could offer nothing small enough for the petite feet of milady. The girls playing ranged in age from 13 to 19 years.

FOR DREXEL CO-EDS

The latest news dispatch from Chicago states that the co-eds of Lake Forest University vetoed a project for the adoption of a baby boy.

The class in infant care and training was enthusiastic a few days ago over the suggestion that an orphan baby be brought to their midst for a month to give them first-hand experience in an art with which they were familiar only through the drab theories of a textbook.

But some of the girls with baby brothers of their own imparted the information that baby-tending involved more than wheeling a perambulator through the autumn afternoons and crooning bedtime lullabys at twilight.

When the question came up to a vote, a tie developed, and Miss Christine Payne, the teacher, decided the contest with a negative ballot.

PROGRESS

Student initiative once more asserts itself when it demands the privilege of entering the Wednesday Assembly Hall in a logical and collegiate fashion. Drexel men and women are to file into the auditorium immediately at noon on Wednesday without forming a column on the balcony and without the guidance of Dean Ryder. This is one opportunity for the undergraduates to prove that they can act upon their own initiative. If the plan fails it will show without a doubt that there still remains a group of students too immature to be associating with college men and women at Drexel.

DREXERD IS GENEROUS

The members of the Drexer staff who recently acquired a brand-new office next to that of Dean Disque in the Museum, have generously granted permission to the Triangle and the Lexter staffs to share the office with them. Thus the three publications will work together and although the quarters are not large, the editors believe that they can accomplish more and better work than heretofore.

TWO SENIORS WILL REPRESENT DREXEL

Last week it was announced that D. Rowe, '27, would be the Drexel representative at the annual convention of the American Student Federation to be held at Ann Arbor, Mich., from December 3 to 5, 1926. Problems involving student leadership and co-operation between faculty members and students will be discussed. At the same time Mr. Rowe is at Ann Arbor, T. Mather will be at Wesleyan University in Connecticut meeting with a group of college men and women for the purpose of studying college curricula.

LEXERD STAFF

Last week the editor of the Year Book announced the names of the members of the editorial staff and they are as follows: Associate Editor, Mary E. Darlington; Business Manager, Nelson Hicks; Art Editors, Donald Rowe and Margaret Whitfield; Assistants to the Staff, Olga Hollis, Harry Brown, Harry Kulberg, William Hottle and Eleanor Hunsberger.

DREXEL PLAYERS BUSY

The local dramatic club is practicing on several one-act comedies which it will present in assembly some time during December.

A committee has been chosen to arrange plans for the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic Tournament which will be held at Drexel in next March. Harry Kulberg, '27, president of the dramatists, hopes to guide the players through a successful season.

DEAN DISQUE ATTENDS CONFERENCE ON CURRICULA

Dean Robert Disque, of the engineering college, will attend a conference of engineering school deans to be held in Washington, D. C., on Friday, November 19. The problem to be discussed by the various pedagogues will be of interest to many educators and students, for it is planned to analyze engineering curricula. The advantages and disadvantages of certain technical subjects in college curricula will be debated with the end in view to discard unessential subjects.

HOUSE DANCES

Spirit waxed high in the Student Houses on Saturday, October 29th. Somehow the spirit of Hallowe'en got into everybody's blood and made the house dances a wonderful success. The 33rd Street corner at Powelton Avenue buzzed with the strains of music from 214, 216 and 309-11. Cups of cider tipped high, clanging slippers, silken gowns, swishing skirts added to the merriment of the season.

ENGINEERS VIEW DIESEL ENGINES AT SESQUI

The Senior Class of Engineering students taking machine design put books and slide-rules aside on Monday, November 15, for the purpose of inspecting the exhibition of Diesel engines at the Sesqui grounds. The group, which consisted of about thirty undergrads and led by Prof. Billings, of the Mechanical Engineering Department, spent several hours viewing the operation of these engines.

The principal difference between the Diesel type of engine and other types of internal combustion engines is that in the former the heat of compression is the sole means of igniting the fuel and in the latter some hot spot or spark-plug is used. This simple and unique method of ignition in the Diesel engine of course limits the type of fuel to the solid variety. If gaseous fuel would be used in a Diesel engine the heat of compression would ignite the charge too early and probably cause a reversal of power. A solid fuel may be injected into the hot compressed air of the cylinder at any convenient time; thus, Diesel engines are limited to solid fuels.

The engines inspected by the Drexel party were manufactured by the Bessemer Gas Engine Company, of Grove City, Pennsylvania. Fuel oil under high pressure was sprayed into the engine cylinders. A four-stage plunger pump, developing fuel pressure of 2,000 pounds per square inch, is operated by an eccentric on the cam-shaft. A special nozzle in the center of the head of each cylinder is employed for atomizing the fuel upon its injection into the combustion chamber.

A fly-ball governor driven by a gear attached to the cam-shaft, controls the speed and power of the engine. This control is accomplished by varying the length of time in which the oil is sprayed into the combustion chamber. When the engine is running the governor actuates a system of levers which shove a small wedge between the cam-follower and push-rod of the spray-nozzle valves. Under heavy load these wedges are shoved "in" and the valve is held open for a longer time interval, thus allowing more fuel to be injected. Under light load the wedge is pulled "out" by the governor and only a small quantity of fuel is used.

Both the intake and the exhaust valves are seated in the head of the engine cylinders and they are opened by a rocker-arm system common to valve-in-head engines.

The pistons of the Bessemer engines are not heavy for their size and they are hollowed on their combustion face.

The length of the piston is about two or three times the diameter. The reason for the comparatively long piston is obvious when the method of supporting the wrist-pin is inspected. The latter is held in place by wedges which have very little contact surface on the piston itself. This design is used because the large amount of heat from combustion would find exit through the wrist-pin and connecting-rod with disastrous results to the bearings.

All the bearings are of the split-shell cylindrical journal type and consist of a layer of non-ferrous metal cast directly in a steel supporting case.

The lubrication of all main bearings is accomplished by a forced feed oil system and drilled shafts. The pistons and cylinders are lubricated by a special glycerine sight-feed lubricator.

An auxiliary air compressor must be used to supply air for starting the engine. Air at 250 pounds per square inch is sent into the cylinders on the down stroke of the piston. After starting the engine the air supply is not used.

Compared to other types of prime-movers the economy of the Diesel engine appears to be the best. On a "dollar basis," the Diesel engines use from one-fourth to one-eighth the cost of fuel compared to an equally rated steam engine, gas engine, or turbine.

The Bessemer engines used the four-stroke cycle.

NEW YORK AGGIES SQUELCH BLUE AND GOLD

Drexel Beaten by Gotham Ensemble, 6 to 3—Passes Are Disastrous

Drexel lost to the brawny eleven from the New York Agricultural College, November 6, on the home field, 46th Street and Haverford Avenue, 6 to 3.

The best effort of Captain Reed's eleven was a lone field goal, while the visitors, taking advantage of a break that gave them possession of the oval on the Drexel 20-yard line, uncovered everything they possessed in the way of defense and crossed the line for a touchdown.

During the entire battle, the efforts of two men stood out with such brilliance that the efforts of the remaining twenty were dwarfed in comparison. Ed. Clark, of Drexel, and Van Arden, the burly leader of the New York eleven, were responsible for most of the yardage gained. The size of the score is no indication of what happened. Drexel gained three first downs to their opponents' one and were in a position to score several times, but due to some still unexplained reason forward passes were resorted to in order to hasten their march to the goal line after Clark had been cracking the line for gains of 5 and 6 yards. Sowell snatched the ball out of the air and was off for a long run before he was finally downed. Drexel gained possession of the ball before any damage had been done. After several plays Chadwick dropped back and kicked a placement goal for Drexel's points.

With only ve minutes to go, Trainer recovered a fumble and gave Drexel the ball on the 40-yard line.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Coach Lange has had his candidates for the varsity working out for the last three weeks. With all of last year's varsity back, the outlook is exceedingly bright for a successful season. The team will be led by Joe Foley, who will be rounding out his fourth year of service on the varsity. His running mate at guard will no doubt be Gregory. Schwarz and Hey will be seen at the forward berths. The pivot position is as yet very much in doubt. Several Freshmen have shown up well and Coach Lange is pleased with them. Practice has been held on Tuesday and Thursday evening, and on the other days of the week after school. There is also a Freshman schedule being arranged. The Frosh will meet several leading teams of the suburban high schools and several freshman teams of other colleges, such as Lafayette and Delaware. Some of the Frosh candidates are Dobbins, Jones, Tucker and Custer.

The varsity schedule is as follows:
December 3—Phila. Textile, home.

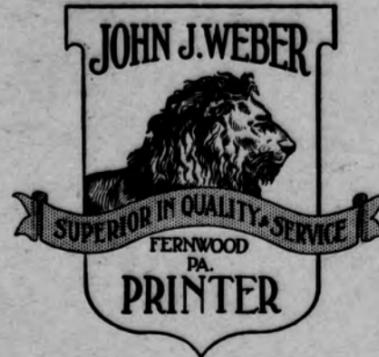

December 4—Rutgers, away.
December 11—U. of P., away.
January 8—Swarthmore, away.
January 14—Juniata, home.
January 15—Haverford, home.
January 19—Juniata, away.
January 22—Delaware, home.
January 26—Seton Hall, away.
February 4—Susquehanna, home.
February 5—Muhlenberg, away.
February 12—Upsala, away.
February 16—P. M. C., home.
February 19—Seton Hall, home.
February 26—Susquehanna, away.
March 2—Upsala, home.
March 12—Alumni, home.

There will be dances after the home games on Saturday evenings. The varsity five deserves all the support the undergrads can give. Come out and root for your college team.

FENCING

Among the many activities of Don Rowe, president of Student Council, is listed the art of fencing. Rowe is practicing daily with a small squad of interested partner and hopes to develop a fencing team for men at Drexel.

ALUMNAE CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA

A course in parliamentary law is being held on six Tuesday evenings under the auspices of this club. We are very fortunate in having Mrs. Floy A. Booth, of Wilmington, Del., as instructor. It is our hope that another class may be held in January and February. If you are interested, please advise Miss Worrell at the Institute, that you are interested and state whether you prefer an evening or late afternoon class. Every man and woman should take such a course in order to learn the correct way to take minutes, prepare and present committee reports, and to be at ease as a presiding officer of a club or other organization.

The monthly dinner meeting of the club was held at the College Club, 1300 Spruce street, on Tuesday evening, November 9, at 6 o'clock. The following were present: Mrs. M. P. Rixstine, Florence Ellender, Sarah L. Neely, Elizabeth Coleman, Lillian A. Hines and Harriet E. Worrell.

DANCE AT 3305-07

A semi-formal house dance is to be given by the girls living in the dormitory at 3305-07 Powelton Avenue, on Saturday, November 20, at 9 o'clock in the evening. The living rooms on the first floor will be appropriately decorated for the occasion and a large number of couples expect to attend.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee was held at the Institute on Monday evening, November 1, with fifteen of the eighteen members present. Miss Mary P. Farr, '95, has been appointed Recording Secretary as Miss S. Suzanne Gate, '23, found it necessary, on account of other duties, to resign this office.

DREXEL ALUMNAE BAZAAR IN COURT

Annual Affair Will Eclipse Previous Undertakings

On Friday afternoon, November 19, at 2 P. M., in the Great Court of Drexel Institute, the Drexel Institute Alumnae Club, of Philadelphia, will open its second annual bazaar. The proceeds will be added to the Maude G. Hopkins Scholarship Fund for the benefit of women students in the Institute. This year two women students are being helped by the income from this fund. The bazaar will close at 7.30 Friday evening, so as not to interfere with the work of the Evening School, but will reopen at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, November 20, and close late that evening. On Saturday evening, the Entertainment Committee promises us some good entertainment, with solo dancing, songs and a Punch and Judy Show. There will be a tent with gypsies to tell fortunes with cards and by reading palms or handwriting. Admission to the bazaar and entertainment is free, but by making reservations in advance through the alumni office at the Institute you may enjoy a dinner which will be served in the Picture Gallery between 6 and 7 on Saturday by the students of the Home Economics Department. Tea will be served in the afternoon. The various committees and their chairmen are:

- Publicity—Miss Clara Kembrey.
Finance—Miss M. Alfreda Hance.
Decorations—Miss Irene Gerlach.
Cakes, Pies and Jellies—Miss Laura McAllister, and many alumnae and other friends of Drexel have promised home-made cakes, cookies, rolls, pies, jellies, pickles and marmalade for this booth.
- Candy—Miss Christine Breihof, the chairman, has been promised a good supply of home-made candy.
- Christmas cards—Miss Sarah L. Neely. This committee has on hand a supply of attractive cards, including a wonderful assortment of one dozen cards for the low price of $1.00. The committee also has sample books from which you can order cards that will be delivered in ample time for Christmas.
- Flowers—Miss Mabel Ewing will have on sale attractive bouquets of bitter sweet, bayberry, ivy, potted plants and cut flowers, and will also have the ever-popular narcissus bulbs.
- Handkerchiefs—Mrs. Walter Gilmore will have an assortment of imported and hand-made handkerchiefs.
- Novelties—Miss Elizabeth Coleman will have a large variety of Japanese articles, brasses and other novelties, and will also take orders for printed and embossed stationery and hosiery, both of which make such acceptable Christmas gifts.
- Needlework—Mrs. S. H. Hall will have stamped goods, embroidered articles, peasant embroideries and a large supply of raincoats and house dresses at very reasonable prices.
- Dinner and tea—Mrs. E. T. Crossan. Anyone who has eaten a dinner prepared and served by a Drexel class in Home Economics will tell you that you cannot afford to miss the opportunity to get such a dinner at the remarkably low cost of $1.00 per plate.
- Children's—Miss Christine Reilly will have woolly sweaters, afghans, caps, etc., for wee children, as well as attractive little toys and games.
- Vendors—Miss Emily D. Parker.
- The tables will be decorated with green crepe paper, and this with the red skirts of the gypsy maids who will be in charge of the booths will add the touch of Christmas colors.

DREXEL HAS LIVE CLASS AT ASBURY

About twenty Drexel men and women who attend the Asbury University Church at 33rd and Woodland Avenue, have formed a discussion group under the leadership of Munsey Gleaton, the student secretary at Drexel. Margaret Whitfield and Thomas Mather have been elected to conduct the functions of the class. Elizabeth McDowell is vice-chairman and Charlotte Starkweather is secretary. Some interesting discussions have been held. All Drexel students are invited to meet with the class, which meets at noon every Sunday.

CHEESEMAN A. HERRICK ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

On Wednesday, October 20, the Assembly had the pleasure of hearing President Herrick, of Girard College, talk upon the education of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Herrick, who is a speaker of rare ability, dwelt particularly upon the fact that Lincoln was a product of the frontier, away from the centers of culture and education. He was the son of a man who could neither read nor write—a man who had but few interests with which to endow his son. The speaker pointed out that despite Lincoln's great intellectual power, the man was intensely human. He was confronted by the usual temptations and opportunities of every young man; yet with the force of character and the will which made him a national idol, he overcame them all.

No other cigarette ever had so many millions of friends

WHEREVER you travel, by sea or by land, in places of work or palaces of pleasure, you find the friends of Camel. And since the art of increasing life's comfort through smoking was discovered, no other cigarette ever made and kept so many friends.

Why does Camel lead the world? Because only the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are bought for Camels. Because Camel is given a blending that, regardless of price, can be found in no other cigarette. Because the world's largest tobacco organization spares neither cost nor effort to make Camel the utmost in cigarettes.

Camel rewards its friends with never-ending peace and satisfaction. Through the day and into the night, it's simply impossible to smoke enough Camels to tire the taste. We invite you to answer, now, the world's most popular smoke invitation—Have a Camel!
