Colonial Serenaders, a well-known dance, will be a wonderful dance. Junior-Pre-Junior Prom, which will be held in the main ball room of the school, will surely be one of the most successful in the history of Drexel. First, it was an improvement over former years in that the committee of the Junior-Pre-Junior Prom has been formed, and the orchestra, will attempt to out-do Budy Yallee and Russ Co-ordinator. This orchestra has met with huge success in the past, and the committee is confident that it will continue to be a better dance with better music at a better price.

Along with the offering of music, there will be a variety of entertainment activities. Harry Jain, a well-known erudite, will give a lecture on the theme of "The Ball Room at the Penn Athletic Club and its effects that can be created." The committee is sure to have a variety of activities to entertain the guests.

The dance will continue until one o'clock. The Junior-Pre-Junior Prom promises to be a wonderful event. The committee is confident that it will be a success, and everyone is encouraged to attend.

The Junior-Pre-Junior Prom will be held on Friday, March 11, 1932.

1. The abolition of the Honor System of the Woman's Student Government.
2. The elimination of extensively organized politics in school affairs.
3. The freedom of student discussion through the medium of the student organ and the number of times he held the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.
4. The institution of a program of assemblies that will arouse through the educational and interest and those of foreign affairs.
5. The furtherance of student interest in national and foreign affairs.
6. Establishment of honor courses for those students of outstanding ability.
7. More social contacts for the lower classes through the medium of court dances and similar functions.

BRIAND, MAN OF PEACE—Death Valiantly Struggles to Remove Adverse of International Goodwill.

With the death of Aristide Briand, the final curtain is lowered on one of the ablest statesmen the world has known. So long identified with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in France that his name has become a synonym for that department, Briand has established himself as the apostle of just another achievement you are, or may mark down your credits. It is worth flattering comments, indeed. Since the moment you have set down should be of vital importance to the student. It is so important that no one could be the topic for requirements of conducting a dance in any of the large hotels or clubs necessitates at least a tax of three dollars. However, why is it necessary to make these affairs combined with fraternity dances, the only affairs of a social nature perhaps with fraternity dances, the only affairs of a social nature. Of ordinary dance given outside of Drexel Institute, is prohibitive, for the financial requirements of conducting a dance in any of the large cities. Would not weekly court dances given on Wednesday evenings from 12:00 o'clock be a feature which would be warmly welcomed by Drexel students, as well as being a definite aid to the social unity of the Drexel student population?

The TRIANGLE strongly advocates the return of the R. O. T. C. Band concerts and the conducting of weekly court dances, that is, when they do not interfere with assembly. Both have a definite value in not only leading color to the school, but also supplying entertainment which is greatly enjoyed by the student. If the stronger organizations of the school will sponsor the dances, they will be performing a very real service to the Institute and a complete program of social activities could be scheduled for the afternoon with little expense to the various organizations.

To the Editor:

This, of course, does not mean that students should forget that discretion is based upon a clear perspective, since the value of our society demands some consideration for the other fellow. But frequently, there is no law of society upon which the part of the individual to his surroundings as to which he conscientiously

Varisty Fire Sinks Grads in Spirited Friday by 59-17 Score

Youth displayed enthusiasm over old age last Thursday evening when the Dragons basketball squad, meeting the grads, defeated the Alumni 59-17. The game was played last week and also for some kind started. Perhaps an Antl-never patting us in the column. He most of you don't, which Is probably couldn't do that through. Reason?

The only explanation that we can give is that they are accustomed to lean upon some big, heavy-chested, outdoor man, who is temporarily absent. So the railing must bear up.

Some of those reeds look as though they expect a husband who could support them in a manner that is necessary. But the railings are loaded with all the waving of the movie—others look as though even I might stand a chance.

Several girls were pacing wildly in the street, leaning against a railing, with streamers hanging from various of the columns of the chancellor. Some girls must have had a high time at the dance. She should take her
