

Home Ec Dean Godfrey Dies

After Twenty-five Years at Drexel Dean Godfrey of Home Ec School Died Unexpectedly This Past August

With the death of Dean Grace Godfrey this summer, the Home Economics Department lost one of its eminent faculty members. Dean Godfrey succumbed to a heart attack on August 25, 1944, at the Home Management House.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon, August 27, by the Rev. Dr. Andrew Mutch, Pastor Emeritus of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Hugh B. Evans, Assistant Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia of which Miss Godfrey was a member. The services were held at the Oliver H. Bair Funeral Parlor and were attended by a large number of students, faculty, and friends including some from Washington, D. C., New York, and other neighboring localities. Interment was at Whitewater, Wisconsin, which is the family home.

Miss Godfrey graduated from Whitewater State Teachers' College in Wisconsin. In 1916 she received her B.S. degree from the University of Wisconsin and in 1923 her M.S. degree from the Teachers' College of Columbia University. Following this, she did further graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, Columbia University, and special work at the University of Chicago.

Miss Godfrey came to Drexel in 1919 as Professor of Home Economics. She became Director of Home Economics in 1923 and Dean of the School of Home Economics in 1934. Under her leadership, the Home Economics Department grew steadily and expanded from a 2-year technical and normal course to a 4-year college course and ultimately embraced graduate work leading to the Master's degree.

Active in professional affiliations, Miss Godfrey was a member of Omicron Nu, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Lambda Theta, Delta Delta Delta, and the American Association of University Women. She also served as regional councilor for the American Home Economics Association, President of the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association, President of the Home Economics Association of Philadelphia and was former President of the Philadelphia Dietetics Association.

Active in community affairs, she served as a member of the Board of GODFREY on Page 3, Col. 2

Drexel Heir To Large Sum

A portion of the estate of George W. Childs Drexel which has been listed for probate purposes at $200,000 and upward has been bequeathed to the endowment fund of Drexel, its income to be used for operating and general running expenses.

Mr. Drexel, son of Anthony J. Drexel, founder of the Institute and only surviving member of the original Board of Trustees of Drexel, on which he had served since 1891, stated that it is not to be used for the purchase of real estate, erection of new buildings or additions to existing buildings.

Frosh Women Camp Mock Rain—Have Fun

Casting aside skirts and books in favor of dungarees and flashlights, 135 freshman girls and Y.W.C.A. cabinet members again invaded Camp Matalionquay at Medford Lakes, N. J. After a trek of about one mile through the Jersey woods, already sporting autumn colors, the weary coeds dropped suitcases, made up bunks, got acquainted with cabinmates, and in general, prepared for a bang-up weekend.

One of the most popular pastimes at camp is singing and the freshmen began by learning all the Drexel songs and cheers. The most popular song of the weekend was the Drexel Eight Song and the freshmen rendered it with a vigor and enthusiasm that made the rafters of the main cabin shake and the upperclassmen reminiscent of past football glories. Although a few sore throats and hoarse voices resulted, there were no further casualties. Friday evening was spent in dancing Virginia Reels, the ever-popular Polka, and Miss Forstner's inimitable square dances. A few jitterbugs even managed to sneak on the floor now and then to get "hep to the jive" that some talented member of the freshman class was beating out. It was indeed a strenuous evening and after the freshmen were tucked in and serenaded by the counsellors, the whole camp settled down—except for those benumbed figures in flannel P.J.'s and blankets that crept into the kitchen at 3 o'clock to toast their toes by the fire.

Saturday's rain disappointingly prevented the usual outdoor sports, so most of the campers indulged in bridge, dancing, and indoor games, although a few stalwart persons ventured outside for volleyball and CAMP on Page 3, Col. 1

Changes in Administration

The beginning of the fall term here at Drexel found several changes in faculty positions. Dean R. C. Disque, who is now the acting president, left vacant his positions as Dean of the Faculty, Dean of the Engineering School and Head of the Electrical Engineering Department.

Dean L. D. Stratton assumed the position of Acting Dean of the Faculty along with his positions as Dean of Men and Head of the Chemical Engineering Department.

Dean J. H. Billings has been appointed Acting Dean of the Engineering School and still maintains his position as Head of the Mechanical Engineering Department.

Professor E. O. Lang, who was Professor of Electrical Engineering, is now Acting Head of the Electrical Engineering Department.

In the Home Economics School, Professor Ardenis Chapman has been appointed Acting Dean of the School of Home Economics—a position left vacant by the recent and untimely death of Dean Grace B. Godfrey.

Profs Serve Fine Food To Frosh

Despite an attempt by the weatherman to throw a wet blanket on Freshman Day at the Drexel Lodge, hardy freshmen ventured into the wilds beyond Newtown Square for a day of fun and relaxation. Possibly the fact that the Men's Student Council already had collected their dollar added to their zest to overcome the elements.

Food, the main attraction, played a stellar role in outsmarting the weather. That scarce yellow commodity known to the Bourgeoisie as Bananas highlighted an ample lunch. Perhaps even more flattering to the dignity of the freshmen was being served dinner by the upper-classmen. (In case any freshmen are wondering just what that stuff was they ate for dinner, here's the menu: chicken chow mein and noodles, green peas, corn-on-the-cob, milk, or coffee, apple pie.)

For the very studious, softball and touch football games were played in the afternoon. Indoors, the radio gave out a play-by-play description of a football game between the other local college team and Duke. On the piano an unidentified virtuoso collaborated with several other frosh in song. In various corners crouched the pinocle sharks and their kibitzers bent on making that bid. With such frivolity was the afternoon spent. FROSH on Page 3, Col. 2

Women's Club Holds Bazaar

The Drexel Women's Club will hold its Bazaar on Wednesday, November 15th. It will be held in the Student Building from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. The proceeds are to support the News Letter, which is sent to Drexel men and women in the service.

The many features of the Bazaar will include a food sale, ice cream, tea, costume jewelry, second-hand books, gifts, aprons, "white elephants," stationery, greeting cards, and gift wrappings.

Contributions will be appreciated from both students and alumni. Miss Larned, Alumni Secretary, will receive all such contributions. Mrs. M. R. Wehr is chairman of the Bazaar.

Women's Club officers for this year will be: President, Miss Harriet E. Worrell; Vice-President, Mrs. A. W. Grosvenor; Treasurer, Mrs. R. P. Lingle; Recording Secretary, Mrs. M. H. MacMains; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. Ehlers.

Dr. Robert C. Disque Assumes Duties As Drexel President

Appointed Acting President By A. J. Drexel Paul Upon Resignation of George P. Rea

Dean Disque, shown at desk in President's Office shortly after assuming his duties as acting president.

Dr. Robert C. Disque, dean of Drexel's faculty since 1925, assumed his new duties as acting president of Drexel on August 1. The announcement of his appointment came from A. J. Drexel Paul, president of the Board of Trustees.

Citing Dr. Disque as an outstanding man in science, Northwestern University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science in 1942.

In 1939 Dr. Disque received the appointment as educational consultant for the W. P. Murphy Foundation to help in planning and carrying out cooperative education in the new Technological Institute of Northwestern University, because of the very high recommendation of Dean Herman Schneider of the University of Cincinnati.

Upon graduating from the University of Wisconsin in 1903 with a bachelor of literature degree, Dr. Disque obtained experience teaching high school for two years. Securing his degree in bachelor of science in Electrical Engineering, he served as assistant electrical engineer of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company until 1908 when he returned to University of Wisconsin to instruct electrical engineering, becoming assistant professor in 1913.

At the outbreak of World War I, Dr. Disque entered the U.S.A.A.S. as a first lieutenant, organized the school for Radio Operators at Columbia University, and rose to the rank of major before leaving the service.

Dr. Disque became professor of Electrical Engineering at Drexel in 1918, dean of the faculty in 1925 and has for a number of years been a leading educator in the field of cooperative engineering education.

Dr. Disque has traveled widely in this country, England, Scotland, Italy, and Germany. He is a member of the A.I.E.E., Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi. He is past president of the Board of School Directors of Swarthmore, Pa., where he resides. He also organized the Swarthmore High School Band, and is treasurer of the Swarthmore Players' Club.

Alumni To Fete Frosh

In accordance with the age-old Drexel tradition, the frosh will be put through their social paces on October 20. This is the date set for the informal party, sponsored by the Drexel Club of Philadelphia. As in past years, aided by the strains of music and laughter, the green and gangling boys and girls, or rather the young men and women will get acquainted (as if they aren't already).

There will be dancing, games, refreshments, prizes and who knows maybe a little fun. There will be girls for the boys and boys for the girls; music for dancing and sofas for roman—, or rather talking.

As in other years, the alumni will be the hosts at this affair. But, rest as ALUMNI on Page 3, Col. 3

Increase in Enrollment For Year

As classes begin for the fall semester at Drexel Tech, figures released from the Registrar's office October 3rd show an enrollment of 1148 as compared with 1146 on October 4th of last year.

In all four schools the freshman class shows an increase. There is an enrollment of 166 men and 253 co-eds, while for the same period last year there were 141 men and 193 women. Upon further analysis we find 130 co-eds overwhelming a minority of 20 freshman men in the School of Business Administration. Among the engineers the men still hold their own with a count of 145 as compared with 6 co-eds. Of course the School of Home Economics is monopolized by the co-eds—92 to date—an increase of 30 over last year. The School of Library Science boasts a freshman enrollment of 14 more students than the previous year's with a roster of 25 women and one man.

In comparison with October 4th of '43 there was on October 3rd of this year the following enrollment in the 4 schools:

	'43	'44
Business Administration	308	364
Engineering	499	392
Home Economics	282	324
Library Science	57	68

These figures show an increase in all schools but the engineers' domain. They have a substantial drop. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that there are more women students than men able to pursue higher education in civilian schools at the present time. With the return of veterans each term, this in time will probably adjust itself to conditions as they used to be.

June Frosh Frat Bids Under Way

Beginning the social season at Drexel finds the five social fraternities in the process of rushing all eligible June freshmen. Opening the bidding season early, due to wartime conditions, finds all fraternities presenting to eligible men the desirable advantages and possibilities of fraternity membership. Formal smokers are being held by all houses on assigned dates. Competition between fraternities is as keen as ever.

More significance than ever is attached to this year's plans of every fraternity. Freshmen are surprised when, with these informal contacts with college men and their professors, they view the many benefits of fraternal life in conjunction with their stay at Drexel. The benefits derived are incalculable and become a lasting memory in any fraternity man's life.

Smokers being held this week and next week are concluded after the smoker at the Lambda Chi Alpha House, Wednesday, October 11th. This week started with a smoker on Wednesday evening at the Theta Chi House. The Tau Kappa Epsilon smoker will be held tonight. On Monday evening, October 9th, the Alpha Pi Lambda House plays host to the freshmen, followed by the Lambda Chi smoker Wednesday night. The two weeks' rushing period ends formally with open houses conducted by all fraternities next Saturday, October 14th. Freshmen are invited to these dances at the houses and enjoy the hospitality offered by all.

Starting Thursday, October 20th, at noon a silence period is imposed on all fraternities during which time any contact between fraternity men and freshmen is forbidden. Dr. Hanson, I-F council adviser, issues bids submitted to him by all fraternities at BIDS on Page 3, Col. 3

A Great Loss

MISS GRACE GODFREY, who has been Dean of the Home Economics School for years, died suddenly this summer. To the students and to the faculty, her death was a loss too great to estimate.

We who are students perhaps cannot realize how fully her life was devoted to the furthering of education and the careers of others. We know only that she was always willing to hear our problems and to give advice both as a friend and as a faculty advisor.

Her interest in her profession was genuine and her background extensive. She represented the basic ideals that Drexel stands for and we have sustained in her loss.

Newcomers? Well, Hello!

EACH year in the first issue of the fall term The Triangle prints its traditional welcome to freshmen. Each year the same things are said and that is excusable in that each year the same ideas hold true for the freshman class. This year, however, we bring into our scope of welcome a much larger group. They are the veterans who have been discharged from the service and are now back in school to continue the education that was rather rudely interrupted a few years ago. It is not necessary to impress upon these boys the significance of an education and the importance of working hard to get this education.

To the freshmen, however, college life is new and completely different from anything you have probably experienced in the past. It's wonderful to be given so much responsibility insofar as your actions are concerned. But then there's a lot of hard work involved and until you discover that the benefits derived from this hard work are in direct proportion to the efforts, you won't like it too much.

Drexel is a wonderful place. After awhile the spirit grows on you and you find that your thoughts, your friends, in fact the whole circle of your life seems to be pretty well centered in your associations here. True, there are many changes that have been brought about by the war but they are only temporary and letters come from all over the world from former Drexel students telling of how they can't wait for the war to be over so that they can come back and resume where they had to stop.

It is our duty now to keep that proverbial "home fire" burning for those fellows. Already they are returning and those of you who are freshmen will probably be here to see Drexel pick up steam and resume its normal peacetime pace with the many dances and activities. We hope such a time is not too far in the future. Until then, let's keep that school spirit thriving. You're in college now, freshman. If you've got the stuff that will bring you that bachelor's degree in four years, you will soon know it. It's going to take a lot of work to get there but that's just a part of college life and there are diversions that will make up for it.

It's up to you!

Our Policy

IN ACCORDANCE with the policy of the Triangle, we would like to state that any opinions of the students on faculty, expressed as "Letters to the Editor," do not necessarily reflect the views or opinions of the Editorial Staff. All letters are welcomed, and it will be left to the discrimination of the Editor and Faculty Adviser.

CAMPUS BIG SHOT—Dorothy Brown

The first senior this season to make her debut as B.W.O.C. is Woman's Student Government President, Dorothy Brown. That she is one of the most lively and best known personalities on the campus is undisputable. Her activities do not start with her freshman year at Drexel, but go back to her beginnings in the West Virginia public school system. We consider her a true Philadelphian though as she moved here at the age of seven and continued in the Philadelphia school system.

Outstanding in Dottie's elementary school days was her interest in leading a dramatic life. This was climaxed by her taking the role of Little Katrinka, for she had long blond curls and was allowed to wear makeup. Dottie has no sisters or brothers to compete with at home, but at West Philadelphia High she proved a real leader. Ballet dancing and sports were her chief interests; she got five athletic awards and served on the athletic Council for three years. In her senior year she was elected President. Ballet—"Ah, yes," sighs Dottie. "We used to practice every night after school and gave three to four performances a season. I remember being at the dance of 'The Hours'—and wearing a pretty little white costume" recalls Dottie as she waves her hand gracefully about and exclaims: "We had fun then though!" The big question in her mind on graduation was whether to continue her study with Littlefield, or—Well, we know her decision. Perhaps this will be strengthened by her graduation with Laureate for scholarship and versatility in activities.

Dottie started Drexel with three of her high school sorority sisters—Polly Tallman, Harriet Roberts, Jane Toy and so began her career at D.I.T. of the fall of '41. Dottie continued to be active in sports in her freshman year by playing varsity hockey and basketball. By her sophomore year Dottie was quite involved in the Y.W.C.A., Glee Club, Drexeltarians, W.S.G.A. Activities and most of all Fred, her Tau Kappa Epsilon "ps" now Lieut. Fred of U. S. Army.

She was vice president of her freshman class. Also in the spring of this year she became an active member of the Delta Sigma Epsilon social Sorority, and was vice president in her junior year. Dottie finally recalled her trip to Denver, Colo. as freshman delegate at the national Delta Sigma Sorority Convention. The Army Air Corps had their lounge next door to the room she, Betty Ayres and Dottie Satterfield occupied. The grand finale of her junior year was her being voted to represent Drexel as their Spring Queen after just being elected president of the W.S.G.A.

Still singing in the Glee Club, attending secretarial meetings and working towards a goal of a greater Drexel, we salute this grand four year administrative secretarial student, Dottie Brown.

What better ending could there be to this than to wish her a happy birthday—Dottie will become 21 on Monday.

Letter— To the Editor

Sir:

After an absence of almost two years, I returned to Drexel this September. I left for the Service with the other boys of the E. R. C. from Drexel. It seems to me, that with the leaving of the E. R. C., the spirit of student activities left also. These boys left with a faith that those who remained would carry on the traditions and activities they had known as students. If these boys should return, as I have from the Service today, they would surely feel that they have been let down. Today they would see jobs undone, and other jobs being done by the faculty, mainly because the students have shown no ambition or interest. The Student Building with no active committee is now coming under the control of Mrs. Seelbach. Yet I have heard students complain to one another that the Student Building is closed at 5:00 except for special occasions; whereas previously it was open every evening until 10:30.

The men's sophomore class has one officer remaining of four elected. With the leaving of three officers for the Service, no one seemed to care if there were any class officers or not. Whose fault is that??? The men of the sophomore class perhaps!

What has happened to the AA Council? There we have but one active member. Why???

Elections aren't far away. Are you going to do your duty to the student body, to the faculty, to the boys who have left Drexel to fight for God and country, and TO YOURSELF???

P.M.E.

• Sigma Omicron Pi

Sigma Omicron Pi welcomes the class of '48" to honorable D.I.T. We hope all the freshmen will survive the hazing and find college life to their liking.

Our new president, Hope Makler, called the first meeting on September 27, and our enthusiastic group made plans for a busy year. The season will start with an initiation and a bridge, gin-rummy party to be held October 10. On the twenty-eighth all members and pledges will travel out to the Lodge for a week-end of relaxation and a good time.

The sleeveless maroon sweaters which you will soon see here and there are our 1944 showing. Don't tell a soul, but they came from the John Wanamaker men's shop.

Congratulations to Doris Zatulove Soccin who was married in June. Lots of luck to you and Len. Also during the summer we lost one of our members and three pledges. We miss our associations with Marian Weiss, Dot Ehrlich, Janne Eisenman, and Mimi Doctor.

• Delta Sigma Epsilon

Ah, sweet beaming faces! Back they come from busy happy vacations. It looks as if our Delt sisters have been representing us far and near. If you were in New York recently perhaps you bumped into Prexy Jackie Jackson, Marilyn Barr, Catherine Faegley, or Mary Bialogowitz working hard, but having themselves—oh, such a smooth time!

Moving on to Harrisburg we find Ginny Barringer at the State Institution—as a student dietitian, of course! Barringer grew very much attached to the place and felt most unhappy when her time was up.

Ocean City, home of the "Super Waitresses," Jeanne Bressler, Nellie Matus, Betty Friedel, and Jean Oldach. On most any weekend you were bound to stumble over a bunch of Delt's frying on the beach, dunking in the ocean, or strutting along the boardwalk. Those weekends were contests of endurance—trying to see who could come home the most brilliant shade of red.

Laura Lou Courtney became Mrs. Paul Frank in June. The wedding was a dream! Later on, Laura Lou buzzed down to Florida to be with her hubby for one blissful month. Speaking of far-away places, there is little Eddie Andrew away down south in Louisiana—don't do anything rash 'til you consult us, Eddie!

Hats off to those courageous gals that spent the summer sweating it out in good ole Phille—Polly MsParren, Ruthie Rummel, Janet Sensinig, Shirley Kraft, and Gertie Garfield—we salute you!

Have you heard? Marily Barr and Jim Orr, of the U. S. Army, are now engaged.

Fraternity Row

Dottie Brown is getting all the freshmen off to a big start, and aren't they a grand gang of gals!

Can you guess who worked in an ice cream lab. for three months? None other than old ice cream cone Kellon! We hear Jackie appointed herself chief taster.

STRICTLY BULL!

Drexel opens with a bang! New freshmen, new ideas, and new lodgings for old dorm girls. The frosh have moved in, taking their places in activities all over the school, making the upperclassmen feel weak and gray haired. It looks like a promising year for all.

Come on out—and watch the football games starting October 21 with Bloomsburg. We need a big cheering section, frosh, so let's be there. Don't forget we'll all be wanting to see you give that first long and loud cheer for your new "Mammy."

Flash! Girls, remember 7-year Sietz? Well, Hank is now a Third Class Electrician's Mate on the U.S.S. Oak Hill, air-craft carrier. Last time he was heard from, he was spending a gala liberty in Pearl Harbor.

Predecessor Frank Ewing, better known as the "Ewe," has been admitted to the Army, with the President's permission, of course. His loving roommate, Jack Hanley, has been seen in khaki running around Camp Berkley, Texas, like mad. Mrs. Kathy Bergh Hanley is now residing in New Jersey awaiting the latest addition to her family.

Frank Bock has also been called to the colors but not without returning to school to bid his farewells.

Pi Kap Harry MacMullin has been wounded in France. Ronnie Yeagle has been reported missing over Hungary. Tom Fisher's brother Ralph is missing over Germany. Tom is in France with the Seabees.

Big doings for Drexel! Besides football, the Interfraternity Council has practically decided to hold the annual I. F. Ball on November 17. So, better get your dates early, girls, so that last-minute rush will be held down to a small thousand. (For women only—there are 12 women to every man, so, better line up all opportunities immediately. Unless, of course, you're expecting your G. I. Joe to be around.)

News and views inside the dorm reveal strange happenings. All sorts of queer things are being done to the new women by firm hands of the upperclassmen. Pigtales, no make-up, pillow cases on heads, and Allah's in the Court are results of long-planned duties for the frosh.

That winds up the "blab" for this week, kiddies, so hang on to your dinks until next week. See ya!

Dorm Overflows To Practice House

With the largest number of women ever to be registered at the Dormitory on Powelton Avenue, it has become necessary to take over the third floor of the Home Economics Practice House to be used as living quarters for students.

The Dormitory is now accommodating 217 girls, an all-time high. When the Dormitory was opened to women students in the fall of 1931, the ten floors of rooms were nearly filled with approximately 190 girls. Registration increases, and on the first of this year the living room on each floor was converted into a bedroom. Now, with ever-increasing registration, it has become necessary to look elsewhere to solve the problem of housing the out-of-town women students.

The rooms on the third floor of the Practice House had been used by the various sororities and several renovations were required. The transformation which has taken place is remarkable. With newly painted walls, curtains and draperies, and new furniture in the bedrooms and living room, the third floor has taken on a cozy, homey atmosphere and the improvements have met with the enthusiastic approval of the students who live there. A piano has been placed in the living room, and a gas range and a refrigerator have been installed in the kitchen, providing facilities for preparing snacks which the girls may enjoy. There are seven bedrooms, 5 double and 2 single, and one single room for the house mother. These rooms are connected with five bathrooms. Eleven upper-class girls are at home on the third floor of the Practice House. Mrs. Etsweiler is the house mother in charge and Miss Florence Seiders assists her.

the net income from his estate for life. At her death the greater part of the estate and the principals of all trusts created for relatives will revert to Drexel to be known as the Mary S. Irick Memorial.

Former publisher of the Ledger and president of the Drexel Banking House, Mr. Drexel named as beneficiaries of his estate two other Philadelphia institutions—Franklin Institute and the Philadelphia Museum of Art. In addition he left eleven trust funds for relatives and seven employees.

quits. As the weather cleared in the late afternoon and the sun was greeted by welcoming whoops, the girls set out on a scavenger hunt from which they returned loaded with all sorts of rocks, twigs, plants and insects.

This year's camp under the leadership of Marion Barron was based on a United Nation's theme. The cabins were divided into groups making up various countries which vied against each other in games, sports, stunts, and cabin inspection. Saturday night the entire camp gathered around the fireplace while each country presented its skit. India's harem scene took first place while a bewildered freshman's first day at Drexel came in second. The final tallying of points showed a tie so the two winning groups fought it out by pinning the tail on the donkey.

Sunday dawned, a perfect fall day. Marion Barron led the worship service in the outdoor chapel and Leanna Chase delivered the message. After church, the girls, making up for one rainy day, spent the rest of the morning on the lake in canoes and rowboats. After dinner the campers prepared for the homeward journey, and at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon the D.I.T. coeds took over the Market Street El again—wary, bedraggled, dirty, but still echoing in weakened voices, "Fight on for Drexel."

Scientists Hit Race Prejudice

Tonight the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Association of Scientific Workers is sponsoring a meeting on "The Scientist Looks at Racial Prejudice."

Three distinguished speakers, representatives of both races, are to speak: Professor M. F. Ashley-Montagu, Associate Professor of Anatomy at Hahnemann Medical College and eminent Anthropologist; Dr. Joseph L. Williams, Fellow of the Royal Entomological Society of London and Assistant Professor of Biology and Chemistry at Lincoln University; and Dr. Tarakinath Das of the Department of History of the College of the City of New York.

The Philadelphia Chapter of the American Society of Scientific Workers believe that the recent Philadelphia Transit Strike has made Philadelphia aware of the destructive nature of racial prejudice. They realize that the truths of racial differences and characteristics have been buried beneath prejudice and ignorance. With this thought in mind, the society has organized a meeting to clarify racial differences.

The meeting is to be held at the Christian Association of the University of Pennsylvania, 36th and Locust, at 8:15 p.m., admission 35 cents. All students are encouraged to attend the meeting.

One of her last official acts was the presentation of a paper before the college section of the American Home Economics Association meeting in Chicago in June 1944.

Dean Godfrey possessed rare tact, wisdom, and understanding. She had a distinctly scientific mind and the power and habit of direct and logical thinking. She prided herself on her office door always being open to students and no problem brought to her was too small for her personal attention.

On Thursday, November 2, at 1:00 in the auditorium a memorial service planned by the Drexel Home Economics Association and Omicron Nu will be conducted.

Credit for this successful outing is due to Dean Stratton and Mr. Goldsborough of the faculty who gave generously of their time and effort to help prepare the meal and wash dishes.

Joseph Vill Gives Life In Battle

Joseph Vill, graduate of the class of 1942, was killed in action in France on June 7th according to notification received by his wife, Ethel. He will be well remembered by members of the advanced classes as one of the outstanding leaders in all activities. He was on the football team for four years and baseball team for two. In the field of dramatics he played the lead in several of the plays and held offices in Alpha Psi Omega and Rouge and Robe. Joe was Cadet Colonel of the ROTC and received the American Legion Post's saber as the outstanding ROTC member.

He was also a leader in Engineering societies and was a member of Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

When Lieutenant Vill graduated two years ago, he went directly into the service with a lieutenant's rating.

Frosh Ring Gong, Praise A.J.-Hazing

Hang out the banners, and wave the flags for D.I.T. frosh hazing is being favored with success.

Upon the entrance of 400 enthusiastic D.I.T. frosh this fall, freshman initiation has been rolling along in full swing. The upper classmen have been keeping their eyes wide open for all unruly freshmen who do not adhere to the rules set up by the W.S.C.A. and the Men's Student Council.

The frosh are required to wear D.I. dinks at all times, they must use only the Chestnut Street entrance, they must travel upward on the left and downward on the right marble staircase, and they must stand, never sit, in the court.

Penalties for the violation of the rules are being enforced with zest. The gong set up in the court is resounding through the halls, the penny-alties are mounting and great homage is being paid to Anthony J. Drexel. It's great fun and all those taking part are having a rare time.

All frosh reported for Monday morning mess, September 25, at 8:00 a.m. The sleepy-eyed gang gathered together for a tasty, nutritious breakfast consisting of oranges, cereal, milk, and gooey buns.

To celebrate the end of hazing, a dance will be held on October 21 in the Student Building, and will be open to the whole student body. The frosh will wear their dinks and with an impressive ceremony the dinks may be thrown away for good.

The night before the freshman dance there is also going to be a freshman party in the Student Building given by the Drexel Alumni Association.

All the upperclassmen are proud of the frosh and they extend their thanks for the cooperation and sportsmanship exhibited by one of the best freshman classes of D.I.T.

Evening in Paris Out No Time To Get There

This term all summer regulations have been ruled out, and nearly all of the old permissions are now in force, with a few slight exceptions.

Freshmen may only have one 10:30 and one 12:00 per week, the 12:00 to be taken over the week-end. Sophomores may have a 10:30 every night and two 12:00's per week, of which one must be taken over the week-end. Juniors are allowed 10:30's every night and four 12:00's per week, two to be taken on Friday and Saturday. Seniors may remain out until 12 any night except Sunday when everyone must be in by 10:30.

The old 2:45's have been cut out, and instead 2:00's are now being granted. Freshmen have one per term; sophomores two per term; juniors two in the fall and winter terms and three in the spring term; and seniors three per term.

Attendance at any Drexel dance, party, or school activity which is open to all students does not take a permission; if however, the activity is open only to organization members and guests it does take a permission. If the Interfraternity Ball, Military Ball, Engineer's Ball, and Spring Prom are held, no permissions will be needed. All class dances are also free of permissions.

Concert Tickets Are Issued Free

As in previous years, Drexel is offering to the students free tickets to the Saturday night concerts at the Academy of Music. They include programs by such well-known artists as Jascha Heifetz and Artur Schnabel with Eugene Ormandy conducting the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. Assistant conductor Caston will take over one night and Monteux is to be guest conductor on two occasions.

Those who wish to attend these worth-while musical programs should sign up well in advance with Miss Handbury in Dean Seelbach's office. Two tickets are available for each of these concerts.

Program for the concerts is as follows:

	Conductor	Soloist
October 7	Ormandy.
October 21	Ormandy.	Erica Morini, Violin
October 28	Ormandy.	William Kapell, Piano
November 11	Ormandy.
November 18	Ormandy.	Nathan Milstein, Violin
November 25	Ormandy.
December 2	Ormandy.	Jascha Heifetz, Violin
December 9	Ormandy.	Claudio Arrau, Piano
December 16	Ormandy.	Edna Phillips, Harp

• A.I.E.E.

After a year of inactivity the AIEE plans to reorganize. A special meeting is to be held in the Student Building on Tuesday afternoon at 1:00 p.m., in room 202A. It is hoped that all Electrical Engineers will attend this meeting. Professor Lange of the E. E. Department, who is advisor, will preside and help in this reorganization.

• Drexeltarians

At the Student Building on Friday, October 6, 1944, a dance will initiate the activities planned by the Drexeltarians for the coming year. The open dance will take the form of a reception at which time old members and the new and prospective members will get acquainted. The dance is free, stag or drag, all students will be welcome.

The Social Program planned for the coming year includes a Halloween Party, skating and bowling parties, and a Christmas Party. Tentative dates have been fixed for numerous other activities. In addition, there will be monthly dinner meetings in the Student Building at which times prominent speakers from the Philadelphia area will discuss topics of current interest.

Under the leadership of Richard Weiler, president, and Rev. Leon Haring of the University of Pennsylvania, acting in an advisory capacity, the Drexeltarians offer an opportunity for intellectual and social development. It is believed that the coming year will bring with it worthwhile mental development for all interested students which will result in a corresponding growth of the Drexeltarian organization.

• AICHE

The attention of all Chemical Engineers is called to the reopening of the student chapter here at Drexel. All Chem's are urged to join. Watch for a notice in the court announcing the first meeting which will be held sometime this month.

• Newman Club

The Newman Catholic Club started a gala season last Wednesday night, October 4, with "New Member" night. Initiation will take place Wednesday night, October 18. All Catholic students who did not come to New Member night are cordially invited to join as soon as possible says President Terry Wiedmann.

The Club is looking forward to an interesting and enjoyable season. A party at the Lodge is scheduled for November, and a dance in the Student Building for December. A Communion breakfast will immediately precede final exam week.

Watch for notices in the Court and in the mail boxes.

• Co-op Book Sales

The Co-op book store is again open for students who wish to sell books from courses they have already completed.

This is a separate division of the Drexel Book Store, and handles the buying and selling of used books. Students who submit books for sale do not receive payment until their books have been sold.

McMains Now Head Coach of Dragon Eleven

Former Assistant Coach Takes Over Full Responsibility of Inexperienced Squad; Only 2 Returning Lettermen

Drexel resumes inter-collegiate football competition this year with a four game schedule which includes Bloomsburg Teachers' College, Lehigh University, and Haverford College. Two games will be played with Bloomsburg, one on the 21st of October at Bloomsburg and one on the 11th of November at home. The game with Lehigh will be played at Bethlehem on October 28th and the one with Haverford will be played at home on November 4th. There is a possibility of getting a contest with either Rutgers University or Johns Hopkins University for the 18th of November at home.

Dragons Prep for Bloomsburg

From the practice field we have the information that our rather inexperienced squad is shaping up under Coach McMains' able direction. To give a statistical birdseye view of the squad, the 19 backfield candidates have an average weight of 154 pounds and has two hold-overs from the '42 team, Dick Dowd and John Christie. The line candidates are 23 in number and average 169 pounds. Mentor McMains has his work cut out for him in the line department because of the total lack of experienced linemen.

Musheno and Hill Out

The team suffered a serious loss when Clyde Musheno, an able and experienced end, and George Hill, 225 lb.-6'7" tackle, who likewise knows football, were forced to quit the squad due to physical ailments which might be aggravated in play.

WAA Names Sports Heads

Marion Barron, president of the Women's Athletic Association, announces the following "heads" of women's sports for the school year 1944-1945:

Hockey: Marion Barron.
Basketball: Peggy Balderston.
Rifery: Mary Lib Hagey.
Badminton: Mickey Fish.
Tennis: Hope Welsh Makler.
Baseball: Terry Engel.

Anyone interested in participating as a member of the team, or manager, can contact the head of that sport.

Post-War Athletics

What is Drexel's present athletic policy? What are its post-war plans in the field of physical education? What has been done in the past and how did things work out then? Perhaps these and a few other questions enter the mind of many a Drexel student sometime during his four or five year stay. The essence of Drexel's present athletic policy at present may be found in the decisions made by the Board of Athletics a few weeks ago. It was then decided to put a football team on the field and to arrange schedules for basketball and baseball teams. This was a progressive step in view of the uncertainties of war-time athletics, but are we in step with the rest of the nation in our post-war planning? As far as can be determined Drexel has no settled, well-defined athletic program to follow at the close of the war. What will be offered to the hundreds of men who will return to Drexel at the close of the conflict? Many will wish to participate in intercollegiate athletics; others will go in for intra-mural athletics. It is our opinion that these demands should be met with an aggressive and complete athletic program. To cite one of many colleges throughout the nations who are looking ahead with confidence, we are informed that Lebanon Valley College is completing plans for a $450,000 physical education building. This is a trend which all will have to follow sooner or later.

Sports to You

Dear Bat:

Editor's Note: Needless to say, Betty Crap, last year's editor of the TRIANGLE, and head of Hockey—always known as Bat.

Rain, rain please go away
Come again some other day
Drexel's hockey squad wants to play—

was the chant of twenty-two girls at the opening of Drexel's hockey training camp three weeks ago at the Lodge. I arrived late Sunday afternoon, of the week before school began—with an unpressed pair of shorts and my old hockey shoes. We were welcomed with a big ham dinner—through which the main topic of conversation was on "What happened to your cottage during the hurricane?" and hearing about Terry's lost boat at Beach Haven. Mac Mullan and Janie Schoff entertained us with the excitement of feeding the over-worked Coast Guards—and oh, so many other things—we finally went to bed early and talked ourselves to sleep after a rousing pillow fight.

Then to wake up Monday morning to see it raining—what a beginning. The weather was clear and warm otherwise so that we didn't mind practicing all morning in a drizzle. Lunch came and still it rained—in fact we had a steady down pour for the next three days. To say that the rain literally never dampened the girls' spirits is no overstatement. A schedule was set up for five hours' practice each day. Proof that the girls adhered to this pretty closely could be seen in their afflicted stiffness at night. This was felt the worst at bed call, as it meant climbing a flight of stairs. I never knew I had so many muscles and joints to get sore, until I tried to go to sleep my first night.

The time designated for eating was very well taken care of and ran extremely close to schedule. Mrs. Yoden did a wonderful job of keeping the hungry mob fed. She deserves a big hand for her fried chicken dinner of Wednesday afternoon.

But we sure have missed you on the squad. Remember all the fun we had last year at our first hockey camp. Remember last year when they cut out football. The athletic council decided to let the girls take over a training camp at the lodge. We've always felt that we owe the success of our first hockey camp to your fine management. "Maz" Barron deserves a big hand for handling this year's camp so well.

It was sure good to welcome Cookie back after her absence from the squad last year. Fadra brought her liniment to prevent stiffness after last year's episode. "Mac" has proven to be quite a cagey bridge player, as Miss Frosty discovered.

And Bat, you should see the Frosh that showed up—some super-duper little players.

All in all—Miss Forstner has prospects for a really good hockey season. I'll keep you posted on all our successes and, in case we have any setbacks I'll let you know of them too. (Must I?)

Best of luck to your hockey team this year—we know you'll be a grand coach.

See you at Beaver, J.A.

Frosh And Veteran Lettermen Swells Dragonettes Squad

The girls' field hockey season opens soon with what promises to be one of the best teams in several years. After a rousing beginning at hockey camp and good turnouts every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons—nothing seems to stand in their way for a winning season.

Returning from last year's varsity squad is almost a full team in itself. The upperclassmen include seniors: Maz Barron, Anne Hilger, Terry Engle and Margret "Cookie" Cook; juniors: Fadra Le Blanc, Janie Schoff, Dana Daris and Jeanann Bressler; sophomores: Shirley MacMillan and Marie Elbertson. At the end of the season last fall, the girls elected Marion Barron head of the sport for this season. The captain will be elected at the opening game. We are much indebted to several of our neighboring high school teams for sending us a most promising number of freshmen for our hockey teams. Keep an eye on Betty Shellhose, Lorna Pratt, Shirley Russel, Joan Dobbs, Florence Luce, Roy Garrett, Betty Jane Cassel, Barbara Jane Woodrow, Marilyn Shultz, Molly Metz, Marty Parke, Betsy Myers—they are going places.

OFF SIDE

With the advent of the World Series, baseball exists from the sporting scene and football takes the spotlight. This column thinks that the teams to watch this year will be Army, Navy, Notre Dame and Drexel. The latter of the group will take to the gridiron after a year's absence and from latest reports will field a fighting eleven under the able tutelage of Maury "Mac" McMains.

Noting the pathetic attendance record of the fighting St. Louis Browns, there is reason to wonder whether the St. Louis fans prefer their baseball World Series style. Despite the current odds in this fracas, one must recognize the fact that the Browns have an important psychological advantage.

Having heard the awe-inspiring names of Princeton, Columbia, Yale, and Rutgers (since narrowed down to Rutgers), as possible opponents for our forthcoming football season, we get to wondering whether our Alma Mater could put a team on the field in the post-war era which could match these gridiron goliaths. A number of athletic scholarships might start the ball rolling—the increased gate would carry it along financially.

It's about time Drexel got around to naming a basketball coach. Informal practice sessions should be starting soon, if D.I.T. is to be ably represented on the court this winter. Judging from the apparent enthusiasm at this early date, there should be no lack of candidates.

So far there has been no limit put upon the number of spectators for the I-F table tennis games; better get your reservations in early, folks.

Rumor has it that certain big-time promoters are planning a renewal of the pansy-bowl game. Better put a polish on the coveted cuspidor.

Interfraternity Sports

Interfraternity ping-pong is to be resumed after two years' absence from the interfraternity sports schedule. The first tournament takes place October 17.

Ulrich, Mr. and Mrs.?

Professor Josephine Ulrich of the Women's Physical Education Department would like all frosh to take note—Her husband is a Major in the Army serving overseas—not a Marketing Professor in Drexel's Business School.
