At 11:00 A.M. on Saturday parents of students will have the opportunity to take a guided tour of the campus and meet members of the faculty. The tour will be followed by a box-luncheon at the football field. The Drexel-Lebanon Valley game will begin at 1:30.

Pre-game and half-time programs will include a welcome by Dr. Creese, awards to parents, a demonstration of lacrosse for all interested students, the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, and the presentation of her court with a Scabbard and Blade escort.

Nominees for Homecoming Queen are: Barbara Boyle, Elli Deodati, Connie Hake, Helen Hartranft, Connie Madl, Marilyn Matthews, Sibby Merkel, Serena Noznesky, Bubbie Quinn, Nancy Rebert, Susie Seaman, Ruth Taylor, and Lori Wersen.

Later, the Queen will present the Brown Jug for the outstanding fraternity display, the Drexel Marching Band will perform, and the freshmen and sophomores will end freshmen hazing with a tug-of-war.

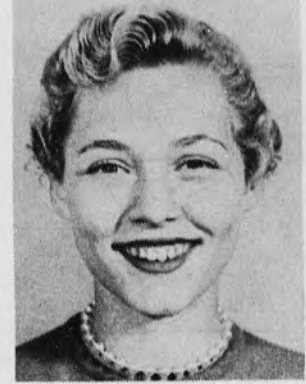

In addition, this year a trophy will be presented to Dr. Creese to be presented in the Spring to the outstanding athlete of the year in any Drexel sport.

President's Tea

After the game, both parents and students are invited to the President's Reception and Tea which will be held in the Dormitory. A buffet supper will be held in the Della Robia Room of the Penn Sherwood Hotel at 5:30.

Saturday night the scene of activity will be the annual open houses of the fraternities and the Dormitory, when Drexel students and their families and friends will view the fraternity homecoming displays and be entertained.

Responsible for this year's homecoming weekend are Miss Jane Martin of the Public Relations Office and members of the Homecoming Committee.

Successful Leadership Conference Held; Willard Johnson Serves As Moderator

by Joyce De Hart

The first Leadership Conference for the guidance of student leaders was held Saturday, October 19. In a well-planned and clearly presented program sponsored by Blue Key and Key and Triangle, the students were shown the technical and psychological aspects of leadership which confront every leader, and were instructed in methods of how to cope with resulting situations. Approximately 95 students attended the conference.

Introduced by Deans

At the opening of the program, Dean Young and Dean Toombs each spoke briefly on the need of such a conference at Drexel and the benefit the whole group receives when the leader is well informed and aware of his duties.

The technical aspects of leadership were shown first with a Parliamentary Procedure dramatization. This "mock meeting" covered most of the problems a leader meets in maintaining order and in minimizing the meeting time.

A film entitled "All I Need is a Conference" emphasized the psychological side of good leadership. The various personalities and personal problems a leader faces can be his biggest job. He may have "a shrinking violet," "a suppressed leader" and "a let's get out of here—FAST" personality all at the same meeting. Knowing how to get the best results with a minimum of time and effort is a feat every leader should know.

After the film, the assembly divided into smaller groups which, with the aid of appointed discussion leaders, talked over the questions listed on the program sheets.

These questions were: What do you conceive to be the chief purpose of a leader? What do you conceive to be the chief purpose of the leader of a discussion? What is your definition of leadership? What do you consider to be the values of group discussion? What have you observed to be the positive qualities of leadership? What have you observed to be the most common weaknesses among leaders you have known?

Secret Observers

Unknown to the discussion leaders there were two observers in each group. A representative from Blue Key and Key and Triangle observed both the process of the discussion and the content of the material discussed. A plenary session with Willard Johnson, guest speaker, moderating, followed the group discussion and each of the observers gave an analysis of the group he had observed.

The afternoon program opened with an address by Willard Johnson, former student government president at U.C.L.A. and vice-president of the United States National Student Association. His topic was "What Makes a Good Leader."

MSC Announces Freshman Hazing Will Stop Today

Freshmen hazing is coming to an end today with a joyful note for the frosh. The sophomore vigilantes will relinquish their authority by abandoning their cards and putting on Freshmen ties and buttons for a turn-about day.

The turn-about day was a compromise offered by the sophomore class for the return of the bell missing from the court for the past two weeks. Although no fines will be permitted, the freshmen will get their taste of "vigilante life" for a day.

"Tug of War" Scheduled

The last conflict between the two classes however, will be at the Homecoming game where the frosh and sophomores will put on their annual "Tug of War."

Freshmen hazing was brought to an end by MSC after a month. Upon consideration of the weakening vigilantes system, it was felt by MSC that continuation of hazing would destroy the spirit built up in the two classes.

The vigilantes stated that their force was too small, due to the fact that many sophomores were either in industry or had classes at the Lancaster Annex. MSC will consider employing upper classmen as vigilantes next year unless other suggestions prove more satisfactory. The hazing fine system netted the sophomore class approximately $50 for their class treasury.

Newman Club Has Installation Tonite

Installation of freshman members into Drexel's Newman Club will be held tonight, at 7:45 p.m., in St. Bede's Chapel, 38th and Spruce Streets. All Newman Club members have been invited to attend this first formal initiation ceremony, which will conclude with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

John F. Caroselli, Club President, and Reverend Edmund J. Speitel, Chaplain, will officiate at the proceedings.

An informal dance with refreshments in Newman Hall will follow.

Students of other lands are encouraged to appear in their native costumes to add to the atmosphere of the affair. The title of Miss Universe will be open to girls of all lands.

The dance will be open to the entire student body and faculty and is planned to be stag. Official crowning of Miss Universe and her Court will be at 10 p.m.

Tickets will go on sale starting October 28. The price is 50¢ per person. Tickets may be acquired from any member of the International Club or by notifying George Simon through Student Mail.

WHY CAN'T SAM CRAM?

Poor Sam . . . here it is the night before that big Psych exam and he can't make head nor tail out of his notes. Oh sure, he took notes all year long, but he wrote them on the back of matchbooks, envelopes, the fly leaf of his textbook . . . everything that was handy except a note book. We hope that next term he'll have enough sense to be well supplied . . . it's so easy when the book store has plenty of ring binders, filler paper, spiral pads . . . in short, everything you need to make your school work easier.

Plans Being Made For SUB Building

On Wednesday, October 16, plans for the development of the new students activities building were presented to the student council of the Evening College by Dean Toombs.

A detailed questionnaire has been prepared by the Day College Student Council under the direction of Werner Schuele and will be used to obtain a sampling of the student body's opinions and wishes concerning the new building.

A similar questionnaire has been adopted by the Night College Student Council and will serve the same purpose.

Slight modifications have been made in the mechanics of the freshman-faculty advisory system. The heads of the departments in the Engineering and Business Colleges have assigned groups to members of the department. These groups consist of approximately twelve students for the Engineering College.

In contrast to other years both student and instructor will be informed of his counter-part. Individual cards stating the name of the student's advisor will be in the mail boxes within the next week. Any freshman not receiving such a card should contact the Dean of Men's Office.

Tickets may be picked up at the Dean of Women's Office. The theatre has the right to ask for identification from anyone using these special-rate tickets.

Panhellenic Council's annual assembly for girls interested in sorority will be held Monday, October 28, at 1:30 p.m., in the auditorium. Rushing will be explained in detail and representatives from each sorority will be on hand to talk about their respective organizations. All freshmen and transfer students are urged to attend.

SUB is presenting a square dance at the Main Lounge Activities Center tonight from nine to twelve. A four-piece combo complete with caller will entertain both drags and stags, and of course, informal dress is expected.

Scabbard and Blade's Fall Formal will be held tonight at the Llanerch Country Club in Havertown, Pa., for the advanced corps. Music will be by the Sentimentalists; dancing will be from nine 'til one. The dance is free for members of the advanced corps; uniforms will be the order of the evening.

Ads Go Ultra-Modern

by Pete Oeth

THE ADMAN COMETH . . .

Since the close of the second World War, the advertising industry has experienced an almost meteoric rise in this country. Where fifteen years ago its importance was dubious, today there are few companies or industries who do not invest large sums in advertising yearly, hoping for a larger share of the existing market, and attempting to expand the given market.

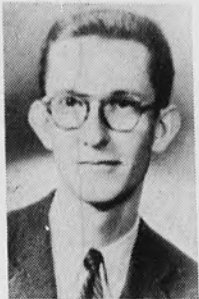

Advertising's influence upon the consumer is greater at the present time than it has ever been, probably because the consumer is exposed to the message more frequently now than ever before, with television added to the older media. All this means that the advertising man has a serious responsibility to render to the public a product that does not insult the intelligence and attempt to unethically warp consumer desires. Apparently this responsibility is too big for the men in the grey flannel suits.

Upon examination of today's advertising copy, certain tendencies can be easily observed; the first is to identify everything with sex, and the second is to make a product or service appealing through snob appeal. Thus the Cadillac is parked in front of the Union League instead of the supermarket, and the vacation cruise ship is populated with scantily-clad cuties.

In order to discover what really impels people to buy, sociological agencies have come into being, such as Motivation Research, Inc. and Social Research. These firms are widely employed by ad agencies to find out just what unconsciously motivates John Consumer. Is it the yellow package, or the promise of renewed virility, or the idea that using Widgets will make him superior to his neighbor? No thought is given to whether it is innately right to know so much about the mass of John Consumers, whether such knowledge isn't really an invasion of individual privacy.

Almost all advertising now seems to advocate complete conformity, hinting at terrible alternatives if the conformity is not achieved. The picture of the correct way is continually thrown at us, complete with two-car garage and McCall's recipes for Togetherness in the kitchen.

Now we read that a new process has been developed, wherein an image can be projected at the eye for a short interval of time, and the receiver doesn't even realize it; thus the TV commercial could become painless. This gimmick, called the subliminal process, is without a doubt the greatest infringement on human privacy since George Orwell devised "Big Brother." What our clever ad industry will do with its newest tool to insult and mold the unsuspecting public only time will tell.

ICG Offers Discussion Topics And Speeches For New Year

Drexel's chapter of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government has announced an extensive program of discussion topics and speeches for its 1957-58 season. The program will follow as closely as possible ICG's role of presenting current discussions on government, politics, and world affairs to interested students.

New officers for this year were also announced for the first time. Assuming the Presidency is Jim Spillane; Vice-President is John Armbruster, Treasurer, Harry Southron; and Paul McFadden and Marty Weinberg are Recording and Corresponding Secretaries respectively.

Purpose of Group

Basically, the I.C.G. is an observation and participation group. All knowledge is gained by practice and observation, not by lecture or instruction. This twenty-two year old organization is aimed at fostering learning of the processes of local and state governments for those people who are idealistically interested in politics.

Annually, about fifty ICG chapters from various colleges in Pennsylvania attend the state convention at Harrisburg. Last year's Drexel chairman, Jim Dunworth, was elected to the convention's highest office, that of State Speaker.

All of the speakers that ICG hopes to bring to Drexel are presently involved in some facet of local or state government.

Proposed Speakers

For example, it is hoped that Malcolm Forbes, candidate for governorship of New Jersey; Raymond Pace Alexander, Philadelphia judge and integrationist; Vic Blanc, Philadelphia District Attorney; Emil Goldhaber, candidate for D.A.; Mr. Weinberg, father of one of Drexel's students, who is running for City Council; and many others will speak, not only to members of the organization, but to all students interested in the topic for discussion.

Who's Apathetic Now?

A problem plaguing many student organizations for quite some time was echoed again at the Leadership Forum last Saturday. The problem concerns the difficulty in securing faculty chaperones for social functions.

Present school regulations require that two full-time faculty members must be in attendance at any social event. In the case of fraternity parties, the regulations are slightly more liberal in that one of the two chaperones may be an approved alumnus.

In order that an alumnus be approved, the fraternity must submit his name to the Dean of Women and the Dean of Men's Offices stating that he is married and is willing to assume the responsibility of a chaperone. The alumnus is then sent a letter from the school verifying this eligibility and willingness. His affirmative reply to this letter constitutes his approval, and his name is then placed on a list.

This recapitulation of the rules might serve to clarify the matter to many who are uninformed as to the administration's position. Actually, their position is a legal one based on a court decision of the early 1900's when it was ruled that a college administration must assume the status of parents when students are residing on campus.

While the existing chaperone rules may seem somewhat severe, it is obvious that any relaxing of them would be legally impossible. Since the remedy to the problem cannot be found in weakening the demands set forth by the administration, where do we turn?

The students, themselves, must accept part of the blame. It is their responsibility to approach a faculty member far enough in advance to allow for matters concerning baby sitters, etc. to be worked out. In fact, the organization should express a verbal willingness to pay for a sitter and, if at all possible, they should try to secure the services of a sitter. It is also the students' responsibility to make faculty members really feel that they are welcome to come to their functions. This welcome attitude should also carry over to the party, itself. A few mumbled words coinciding with a quick gesture to secure a "victim's" signature on the blue card usually produces negative results.

A more organized student effort might help to alleviate the matter. APO and MSC are planning to send out questionnaires to the faculty to learn of their reactions to the chaperone situation. The results of this, however, should not be overestimated.

Who's left to share the blame? The faculty! They, too, have a responsibility here. The faculty often spends a great deal of time in deriding the student body for its apathy. But the apathy shown by the faculty toward their responsibility in chaperoning does no great credit to that august body.

Disc Discussion

Ballads Again Hit The Top Ten

by Bob Brennan

The selection of discs, both in albums and on single sides, is good and varied. Here are the tops in the national album ratings this week: Around the World in 80 Days, My Fair Lady (still up there), Where Are You? by Frank Sinatra, Loving You, by Elvis, and Wonderful, Wonderful by Johnny Mathis. Locally, the top pop singles include: Chances Are, Have I Told You Lately that I Love You, Honeycomb, Jailhouse Rock and Tammy.

Continuing in a local vein, Springfield's Trish Dwellley who became a TV Cinderella on Jack Paar's "Tonight" show, is really flying high. She appeared Wednesday on Patti Page's "Big Record," has been signed to a 20th Century-Fox contract and came out with two great sides for Decca this week—Wishing backed with Far Away. This girl has a beautiful voice and is really going places. If you haven't heard her, you can catch her on the "Tonight" show Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Trish is a new record star on the rise but what about some of the established stars who just haven't been able to find themselves in the record business these days. What's happened to: Eddie Fisher—

he hasn't had a hit in years; ditto Joni James; and the Hilltoppers—they haven't struck pay dirt since Till Then. They did, however, release a new side this week—The Joker, on Dot. Hope this is the big one they've been waiting for.

Two other shining record lights of a few years ago have disappeared completely, as far as I can see. Has anybody seen: Joan Weber or Kitty Kallen. Kitty had two big records, remember—Little Things Mean a Lot (it sold a million) and In the Chapel in the Moonlight. Joan Weber, whose Let Me Go Lover was another million seller hasn't been heard from since.

Two Albums Worth Waiting for: MGM's "Les Girls," starring Gene Kelly, Kay Kendall and Mitzi Gaynor, from the soundtrack; and the Columbia album, "West Side Story," with the original Broadway cast.

Hit Parade Candidate: "I'm Available," by Margie Reyburn on Liberty.

Jazz Fans Will Appreciate: Ella and Louis Again on Verve. Ella Fitzgerald and Louis Armstrong offer 19 great standards.

Essay Contest Being Sponsored; Plans Made For Engineers Day

by Bob Ives

The Federation of Engineering, working in cooperation with the Tech Journal, is sponsoring an article contest. The content of the articles should be not too technical and 2000-3000 words in length. These articles should be turned in to the professional society by the middle of January to be in the March issue of the Tech Journal. In addition to the article being printed in the Tech Journal, the writer of the winning article will receive a five dollar award, and his society will also receive five dollars.

Plans for Engineers Day are already underway. The nominations for the scientist or engineer to receive the E-Day award are in. This month, each society will be considering the girl who will represent the society as its nominee for queen of the Engineers Ball.

American Chemical Society

Chemistry majors met on October 10 to organize for the 1957-58 year. The freshmen who came to the meeting had a good opportunity to become acquainted with the society. Coming ACS meetings will be held the second Thursday of each month during the fall term.

American Society of Civil Engineers

At the last ASCE meeting, Mr. Silmeo from Catlytic Construction Co. spoke on the duties and responsibilities of civil engineers. He also mentioned a few actual construction problems along with the most economical solutions.

The next ASCE meeting will be on Tuesday, November 5, 1957 in the Art Gallery. The speakers will be Messrs. Hoot and Guarino. Mr. Hoot will speak on the sanitary engineering aspects of sewage treatment. Mr. Guarino will speak on the biological and chemical aspects of sewage treatment. The activated sludge process in sewage and sludge disposal will be discussed.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers

Chemical engineers will meet on Thursday, November 7, in the Art Gallery at 7:30 for their second meeting of the fall term. An engineer from the Atlantic Refining Company will speak to the group on the petroleum field. Refreshments will be served afterwards in the Dragon's Den.

For engineers, with their mathematical experience, the following problem is presented. Answers can be sent to Bob Ives through the student mail, and the winners will be announced through this article in two weeks.

An engineer is buying a house with a mortgage of "M" dollars, payable monthly for a period of "N" years at "R" dollars per month and an interest rate of "I" percent. Develop a formula to determine how much of the mortgage the engineer will have paid off after "X" months.

Letter To The Editor

Give Credit Where Due

To the Student Body:

This past Saturday, October 19, Blue Key and Key and Triangle sponsored the first leadership program seen at Drexel for many years. It is also the first time that your student governments have expressed the opinion and desire to sponsor the same.

Men's Student Council in particular feels that it is the duty of your student government to see that leadership conferences exist for the students. However, we feel that if we are to pay directly from our budget for this "existence," then you, the student, should be made aware of our interest in this field.

Needless to say, last Saturday's program did not advertise the fact that the leadership conference was financially sponsored by WSGA and MSC.

Co-sponsorship is an advantage in running almost any program and MSC is willing to cooperate with any organization in this matter and sponsor a program which it deems necessary and advantageous to the student body.

We would therefore like to suggest that if organizations wishing our financial support are not willing to have us act as a co-sponsor, they should appeal for their own budget.

Barb Boyle Excels In Sports And Leadership At Drexel

by Nettie Passo

Barb Boyle

Whitmarsh, Pennsylvania, sent Barbara Boyle to Drexel in 1954. Since that time, Barb, has figuratively had a finger in every pie. As Key & Triangle president, Barb was responsible for a good bit of the planning for the recent leadership conference.

Barbara serves Delta Zeta as social chairman and WSGA as treasurer. She is secretary of Pi Omega Pi and a member of WAA. This popular miss, again a candidate for Homecoming Queen, is serving this year as co-chairman of the Homecoming committee.

Perhaps the activity for which Barbara is best known is sports. Last year she led the girls' basketball team as captain and is currently directing the hockey team to a winning season—she hopes. After spending two years on the varsity tennis team, Barbara decided to take a vacation last spring and STUDY.

An accomplished horsewoman herself, Barbara has spent the past six summers teaching riding to children. From horseback riding to Montovani's mood music—it all interests this very active Drexelite. Listen for "really great, terrific, fabulous," and you're sure to see Barbara behind these emphatic words.

Time Machine Drops Us In Old Snurdlyville

by A. O. Fredenstein

A couple weeks ago we climbed into our IBM "690" Time Machine and traveled back into the days of yesteryear. Out of the muck, dust, and slush came the sound of thundering hoofbeats and what did we see??? Sputnik!!! No, it good old Snurdlyville Tech.

Looking around the campus we immediately noticed the football field over on 82nd Avenue. For a moment it looked like there might have been a game going on. No, it must be just a scrimmage, we thought, for there were no fans in the stadium.

Where Are They?

Approaching the first cheerleaders (she wasn't too neat!), we called: "Oh, Miss . . . MISS . . . HEY YOU! What's going on here? Why are the cheerleaders out here at a scrimmage? There must be a lot of school spirit here!"

"No, Stranger, this ain't no scrimmage. It's our Homecoming game with R.I.P. And we ain't seen no school spirit since prohibition," came her startling reply.

Stevevino

Come Monday morning, we stopped several of the students as they got off the Monorail. Interviews with some of them proved very interesting, and we brought some of the tape recordings back with us.

"Hi, what's your name?"

"Stevevino Slopenspagle."

"Well, Steve, would you answer a question for me? Why weren't you at the game on Saturday?"

"Whadda-ya-mean? See dem huns slop through four quarters of massacre ball? I got more important things to do—like teach my brudder how to darn socks."

"Thank you, Steve. Here comes a female. Let's get her answer. Hey, Slide-rule Sal, why weren't you at the game?"

"Due to the gravitational influx inhibited by the arc tan of the trapazoidal distance between the "beeps" from Sputnik, these equations . . . huh, what game?"

Commuters Speak

Our next Commuter-on-the-Street is Bobby Bloop. "Huh, go to the game. Listen, to get into the game you need a matric card and these fool new ones didn't fit in my wallet so I spent all day Saturday down town trying to find a wallet that it would fit in. And you know, when I finally did get home with the new wallet, it wouldn't fit into my pocket. I guess I'll just never get to see one of the games."

Here's a man in a ROT Corps uniform. "My name is MacArthur A. Douglas, and I wasn't at the game on Saturday either. I have a MT quiz on Tuesday and I had to study for it all week-end so that I won't flunk the course."

Played Poker

My, my, MY! Another female. "He-e-l-l-o. My name is Sally Simpel. Not at the game! Well, Mister, I'll tell you why I wasn't at the game! Last Friday I stopped down to the Cafeteria to see the new group of workers with those great personalities, but when I stamped my cigarette out in the coffee cup one of the table clearers asked me what I thought the ash-tray outside the door was for and with that she politely smashed me over the head with a DIRTY tray. Saturday my head hurt so bad that I went out and played poker instead."

Greeks Review New Capers As Homecoming Whirls Near

Active is the best word to describe sorority life at Drexel. The four sororities on campus have been busily planning for this college year.

DELTA ZETA's calendar began with a lively party with its brother fraternity, LAMBDA CHI. The big turnout made it a successful evening of dancing, entertainment, and hoagies.

The DELTS were seen wearing pink and green ribbons beneath their pins last week on the occasion of the chapter's birthday, October 13.

There will be a celebration commemorating DELTA ZETA's Founders Day on October 24. Alumnae and collegiate members from this area will gather at Temple University.

Oh those calories! But those PHI MU's sure profited from the bake sale. It was their social service project and the proceeds went to help needy children.

All car owners, here's a great opportunity. The PHI MU's are having a car wash on Saturday, November 2, and you can be sure the job will be first rate. Be sure to bring your car to any fraternity house and for $1.00 ($1.25 for white walls) you can be shined up for Homecoming.

The sisters of SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA greatly enjoyed their sorority social at the well-attended Cinerama performance last Thursday. So successful was the evening that a repeat performance is sure to occur in the future.

Friday night before the West Chester game, the TRI SIG's had a delicious shrimp dinner with their brother fraternity, TKE. Afterward the group went to the game to root our team on.

Don't miss the skits in the Court this coming week. All of the sororities and fraternities will be competing for the best skit for Homecoming.

The ALPHAS had a wonderful time last week-end, when they went to New York for the initiation of Gamma Delta chapter. They're now busy working on their Homecoming skit with the APPLE PIE'S, TEP's and THETA CHI's.

Highlighting the past week-end and initiating their first social event of the fall term, the brothers of THETA CHI played host to their annual Foot Ball, which proved to be one of the finest Court dances of the term.

The summer pledge class of ALPHA PI LAMBDA provided their Rag Bag Ball at the house Saturday evening. The ball was quite a success and the culmination of pledge hazing.

Life at a Luau was the theme for this week at the SIGMA PI house. Cocoanuts, pineapples and Hawaiian punch were in abundance as these Polynesians danced away the evening to the tunes of the ever-popular primitive beat of Rock and Roll.

Climaxing a full week-end on campus was left to the brothers of LAMBDA CHI ALPHA. At their home on Baring Street was heard the strange noises of Bill Tucker and his group giving a fashionable Sunday afternoon jam session. The Drexel women were ably entertained.

Rosenstein Leads Football Team and Lacrosse Squad

by Irvin Barash

"Rosenstein carries the ball for twelve yards." Play-by-play accounts such as these were frequently made by the public address announcer during the Drexel-Ursinus encounter on October 12.

Though the Dragons wound up on the short end of a twelve to six count, it was Rosenstein's courage and aggressiveness that almost pulled the game out of the fire for the Allenmen. The only Blue and Gold touchdown, tallied by quarterback Tom O'Connor, occurred in the aftermath of a series of running plays of which Rosenstein chalked up the most yardage.

All East Squad

Many times he brought the pigskin within striking distance of the Bear goal line, but for no avail. He did manage to gain 68 of Drexel's 143 yards, which earned him the honor of being chosen to the All-East College Squad.

The spark with which Al Rosenstein ignites the Dragon attack might be attributed to the fact that he was born on Independence Day.

At Baltimore's Forest Park High, Al was the fullback of the school eleven for two seasons. In his final campaign, he tied for the team high in touchdowns with four—all scored in one game.

Epman also

As mid-fielder of the lacrosse squad, he received wide acclaim. Drexel's Herman Epstein noticed Al's prowess in the sport and persuaded him to matriculate to Drexel Institute. In addition, Rosenstein was a member of the school's national honor society, secretary of the Varsity Club, and treasurer of his fraternity, Sigma Phi.

Although Rosenstein made his debut in a Blue and Gold football uniform in the middle of the '56 season, he still was able to cross the opposition's goal line three times. In the PMC tussle, his first game, Al performed acrobatics as he intercepted a pass from Cadet flinger Tommie Costello on the one yard line and plunged over for the score.

Facing Western Maryland, he caught a ten yard pass and scampered twenty yards for Drexel's first tally in their 20-6 win. In the last game of the season, Rosenstein was again on the receiving end of a Zador pitch, good for fourteen yards. Eighteen yards later he was in the Coast Guard end zone.

ball—lacrosse. Al led the 1957 stickmen with twenty-two goals, six of which were tallied against CCNY, and finished behind Frank Arnold and Bill Thayer in assists. His thirty-five points, twenty-two goals and thirteen assists, deadlocked him with Bill Thayer, for the team high.

Last Christmas, Rosenstein accompanied Arnold, Coach Epstein and Charlie Vincent to Palm Beach, Florida as part of the northern contingent in a North-South contest.

Ten-Pin Standings Shaken Lambda Chi & TKE Lead

by Bowl M. Over

Surprises were in order in the IF bowling league as a fighting Tau Epsilon Phi team unleashed an eye opening 4-0 victory over Theta Chi. Saul Goldberg led the Teps with a 176 game and was aided by Morty Liss who checked in with a 443 series. Migs Damiani was high man for the Oxmen.

Pi Kappa Phi showed their power as they routed Alpha Pi Lambda, 4-0. Led by Jack Campbell in the second game with a night high single of 190, the Pi Kaps posted the season's high team singles with an 835 series.

Upset

Sigma Pi rolled over a highly rated Tau Kappa Epsilon team and thus tightened up the standings in the split league competition. Led by Markowski, who had a 181 game and 511 series, the Sigma Pi's won 3-1. Ray Westphal was high man for the Tekes.

The flu bug hit the Delta Sigs hard this week, laying up two of their starting five, and aided the Delta Kaps to romp to a 3-1 victory. Delta Kappa Rho was led by Bob Gargan with a 172 singles and 457 total, while Delta Sigma Phi's Bill Barto was high in the game with a 182 singles and 472 series.

Lambda Chi Alpha is still on top by a 4-0 forfeit victory.

With all the upsets this week, the league standings are greatly altered with new leaders taking over.

Four Undefeated In I-F Grid League

by Harry Moyer

The I-F football league ended its second week of action with four teams remaining undefeated—Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi, and Alpha Pi Lambda.

Tau Kappa Epsilon maintained its perfect record by blanking Delta Sigma Phi, 20-0. Ray Westphal threw touchdown passes to Bill Thayer, John Macrino, and Bob Buckley. George Kroll completed the Teke scoring by registering a safety. Bill Haigh and John Bartos played well in a losing cause.

In the highest scoring game of the afternoon Theta Chi defeated Sigma Pi, 42-12. Charlie Siegel racked up three of the Oxmen's scores while Ross Wix accounted for the other. "Migs" Damiani threw three TD aeriels and Ralph Bieber passed for one. Pete O'Donnell ran for one Sigma Pi touchdown and flipped a pay-off pass to Joe Aten for the remaining six points.

Lambda Chi remained unscored upon by shutting out Pi Kappa Phi, 12-0. Dan Klopp scored on a pass interception behind good blocking and tossed a touchdown pass to Jim Hefflin. Ed Monaghan played a good defensive game in a losing effort for the Pi Kaps.

Alpha Pi Lambda, led by the fine all-around playing of Bob Quinn, beat Delta Kappa Rho, 20-2. Quinn heaved TD aeriels to Fred Johnson and Chet Hagenbarth in addition to scoring one himself. Tom Long saved the Delta Kaps from a shutout by scoring a safety.

Teachers Romp Over Drexel, 39-0; Allenmen Looking For Initial Win

by Migs Damiani

West Chester State Teacher's College's heavily favored Rams butted the Dragons all around the field last Friday night and coasted to a 39-0 victory.

The Dragons held the Rams for a full thirteen minutes before West Chester hit the scoring column on a 35 yd. touchdown pass from quarterback Dick Yoder to Bill Shockley. The point after went astray.

Rams Score

The West Chester offense hit its peak in the second period as they racked up three touchdowns. John Harrington, junior quarterback, hit Bob Mosteller with a 25 yd. touchdown pass, the first of three he threw. Mosteller converted for the extra point and the Rams led, 13-0. In the next series of plays, Dragon quarterback Tom O'Connor fumbled on his own 22. West Chester recovered and two plays later, Bill Miller zig zagged his way down the sideline for the Ram's third tally. Miller also converted the extra point.

Attack Rolls On

After an exchange of punts, the Rams took over on their own 47. Two successive penalties pushed them back to the 27, where Harrington pitched a sensational 73 yd. touchdown pass to Bruce Shenk. The P.A.T. was off to the left.

The Dragons got as far as the West Chester 33, via an O'Connor run, before the half ended.

The Rams hit hard and fast early in the third quarter to register another score. Jack Wendland culminated a long drive as he scooted across the goal line from seven yds out. Bill Shockley converted for the Rams' 33rd point.

Ken Alston received the honor of scoring West Chester's sixth touchdown when he caught a 12 yd. pass from Harrington. The P.A.T. was missed and the game ended moments later with the Rams winning, 39-0.

Spirit is displayed by a DIT player in a recent soccer game. The Dragon Booters won their thirteenth consecutive game on Wednesday when they defeated the Owls of Temple by a 3-1 score. Another MSC Championship is envisioned by the team and its supporters.

Booters Still Unbeaten; Drop La Salle, Towson

by Howard Moyer

Drexel's varsity soccer team continued its winning ways this past week with decisive victories over LaSalle and Towson.

On Wednesday the Dragons beat LaSalle, 4-0. The game was hard fought with all the scoring coming in the first and fourth periods. Dan Siryj performed another "hat trick" by booting in three goals. Stosh Dlugosz had the other tally to complete the scoring.

Tight Defense

Bentley Stuart played an excellent game as goalie. In the first two games he has allowed only one goal. Coach Don Yonker has great expectations of this man. George Annet adds the depth necessary for this position.

On Saturday, Drexel defeated a strong Towson team, 2-1. They avenged their 1-0 defeat at the hands of the Knights a year ago. Before playing the Dragons, Towson had only lost one game.

Towson drew first blood when Patrinicola scored in the middle of the first period. Both teams had many opportunities to score, but the goalies played great games.

Siryj Wins Game

Thor Chuma tied up the game early in the third quarter as he booted a goal from five yards out. Dan Siryj again played the hero role as he tallied the decisive goal, within a minute of Chuma's score.

The Dragon goal tenders, Annet and Stuart, did another outstanding job. Drexel opponents have now scored only 2 times in 3 games. Frank Benasutti, Dragon halfback, suffered an arm injury late in the second period.

This past Wednesday, Drexel travelled to Temple Stadium to meet the Owls, and tomorrow, they play host to John Hopkins University. Drexel's junior varsity won its opening game of this season by defeating our neighbors, Pennsylvania Hospital, 6-3. After trailing by a score of 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, the "nightfighters" came back with one in the second, and two each in the third and fourth periods.

The varsity now has a 2-0 record in league competition, and we seem to be on our way to another MAC championship. Remaining games pit the Dragons against West Chester, 1956 national champions, Delaware, Ursinus, Bucknell, Elizabethtown, and Washington College.

Pix by Rannazisi

Fighting all the way are the Dragonettes, as they go on to score another win against Immaculata College. Wednesday the girls played to a 3-3 stalemate with a strong Chestnut Hill team.

Women Defeated Immaculata; Frosh Played To A Stalemate

by Susan Miller

On Thursday October 17, the Varsity squad of the Drexel's women hockey team defeated Immaculata College 3-2.

The day of the game was rainy but that didn't dampen the spirit of the team. After a slow first half, Drexel came from behind and scored three goals.

Nancy Hayard is accredited to two of these goals and Lynne Meyers fought to score one goal. The forward line's scoring would not have been possible without the reliable, quick, and stupendous play of the backfield.

As a result, Drexel marched down the field, played to win, and brought home victory for Drexel.

Although the Junior-Varsity did not come home with a winning score, they did tie Immaculata College's Junior-Varsity 0-0. Inspired by the Varsity's win, they fought hard and engaged in a game of untiring spirit.

Freshmen Gridsters Stun Temple In Opener

by Ray Miller

The Drexel freshmen got their season off to a real good start by tying Temple's junior varsity last Friday afternoon 13 to 13. Score-wise, it could have been better, but statistic-wise, the frosh really showed what they could do. They had a dozen first downs to Temple's three, completed twice as many passes, and picked up more yardage on the ground.

The game was played on a muddy field, which served to slow up both teams considerably. Overall, considering the weather and the playing conditions, the game was marked by very few fumbles and penalties.

Dragons Tally

In the first quarter Drexel began driving and wearing down the Temple defense, getting deep within Temple territory only to have their offense bog down in the mud.

In the second period the Dragons really started to roll. Drexel controlled the ball most of the second quarter. With only a few minutes left in that period they intercepted a Temple pass on the 25 yard line and a few plays later, Joe Zador plunged over from the one yard line for the first score of the game. At the half, Drexel led 6 to 0.

The third quarter was the one in which Drexel's defense made both its mistakes. Temple scored on a 60 yard pass in the opening minutes of play and later on a 48 yard off-tackle play. These two plays were the only ones in the whole game that saw Temple inside Drexel's 25 yard line.

Drexel's second touchdown also came in the third quarter when Joe Zador blocked a punt and Bruce Bell picked up the loose ball and carried it over to score. Zador added the extra point to end Drexel's scoring for the afternoon.

Team Is Strong

Outstanding players for Drexel were Jim Holden, whose quarterbacking led the Dragon attack, and Joe Zador who plunged over for the first Blue and Gold score, blocked a punt that led to another, and kicked the extra point after the second touchdown.

It looks as though Drexel's varsity of 1958 will get a real boost from this year's freshmen team if the frosh continue to play such good football. The next game will be on November 2 at Bordentown Military Academy.

Marksmen Ready

The Drexel riflemen are preparing for another season of competition in the Greater Philadelphia ROTC League. Last season, the rifle team posted the most outstanding record among sports at Drexel and took the championship.

In league competition they won all of their fourteen matches and are hopeful of repeating this season. Captain Kirts is the coach of the riflemen.

The Dragons may face some outstanding rifle teams this year such as Brooklyn Poly Tech., La Salle, Georgetown, Norwich, Lehigh, and William and Mary.

Returning to the team are Captain Dave Lennon, Ed Schiver, Phil Lion, Dave Onesti, and Lewis Fleishmann. The riflemen's first match will be played against Penn, Navy and P.M.C. at the Drexel range on November 16.

Iru Mack Predicts

LOCAL SCENE—Soccer

While the Dragon football team is kept temporarily stalled, our undefeated soccer team, coached by Don Yonker, keeps gaining momentum. They have now run their consecutive string to 13 and loom as strong favorites to take their third straight MAC championship. The West Chester "Athletic Scholarship College" is the last obstacle in their path for this crown. You can already hear the beating of the drums to enter the team in the national championships if eligible.

COMPLAINTS

The story of the poor public address system in the Court is almost as old as the Court itself but still nothing has been done by the school to improve this situation. After talking to a prominent individual in the Buildings and Grounds Department last Friday, I was told that this situation could be rectified with a reasonable amount of money.

It is important that action for improvement be taken on this subject in the near future, as the public address system in the Court is one of the few ways in which a message can be adequately related to the student body of Drexel. An example of this condition occurs at pep rallies.

HOMECOMING

People have asked in the past few weeks when I would predict again. To satisfy all the people who like to see me go out on a limb, I will predict Miss LORI WERSEN as 1957 Homecoming Queen.

FOOTBALL

Maybe this is our week. The team, led by Quarterback Tom "The Dateless Wonder" O'Connor, has been showing steady improvement, and we could very well notch number one manana.

NATIONAL SCENE—Horseracing

Once again, "the sport of kings" pops back into the national spotlight. Tomorrow at Garden State Park, the world's richest horse race will be run. An estimated 15 of the best 2-year-old horses in the country will go postward to claim approximately $300,000 and two-year-old honors for 1957. The horse to watch in this race is MISTY FLIGHT. He is a great stretch horse and will be especially effective in this mile and a sixteenth distance.

Viewing some of the big games around the country this week it appears to be:

Iowa over Northwestern by 27. Second ranked Iowa will be out to run up the score over a comparatively weak Northwestern squad. Dartmouth over Harvard by 20. Dartmouth keeps rolling. Harvard looks poor.

See you at the game tomorrow!
