Miss Cain Appointed New Program Director

Novel posters are being produced by Miss Blanche Cain, the new Program Director for student activities at Drexel and a specialist in the field of College Union Management.

Co-ordinating all of the varied events at Drexel's Activities Center is Miss Blanche Cain, recently appointed Program Director for student activities.

Miss Cain's background and experience makes her especially suited to her post here at Drexel. She received her Bachelor's degree at Wheaton College and her Master's degree six months in advance, being the first person in the nation to receive a graduate degree in College Union Management. When asked about Drexel, Miss Cain had nothing but praise. She was impressed with the students, be-

Homecoming Will Feature Beard & Costume Contests

A contest with the theme of the Foreign Policy will soon be held. Prizes will be awarded for the costumes of the outstanding male, female, and couple. Couples must carry out a theme in their costumes. Judging will occur on Wednesday, October 12, from 1:00 to 1:30 in the small court. The contestants will be judged on humor, originality, neatness, and overall appearance. The contest will be presented at the October 26 Pop Rally. First, second, and third prizes will be awarded.

Co-op DepartmentALTERS Industry Report Format

The Department of Industrial Co-ordination has recently revised the instructions for Industry reports. The newer reports will be much shorter and more concise than the old ones.

Purpose

The purpose of the new reports, according to Mr. Stewart B. Collins, the Director of the Department, is to force the individual student to condense his thoughts to 100 or 150 words from the previous 2500 and to learn the technique of writing, and stress the educational aspects of his job. The new reports will enable the coordinators to return the graded reports before the student goes into industry and to have more frequent contacts with their stu-

Individual Help

The Co-op Department hopes to help each individual student as much as possible to have each co-ordinator be better acquainted with his student. Although the new reports will be shorter than the old ones, the Co-op Department does not believe that they should be written in, nor do they expect to see as many illustrations in the new reports as in the old. The new instructions were first used for the Summer Term stu-

Scientists-Theologian To Speak At DCF

"Faith and the Academic Life" is the topic of a discussion under the leadership of Dr. William Pate, to be held in Room 215 of the DAC at seven o'clock this evening. The meeting is sponsored by the Drexel Christian Fellowship. D.C.F. is Dr. Pate's chapter of the internationally known Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship.

Dr. Pate is well qualified to explain the nature and the relationships of the Christian faith to the life of the college student. He holds an undergraduate degree in zoology from Wheaton College and a Ph.D. from the Graduate School of the Dallas Theological Seminary and is anthropologically from the University of Pennsylvania. In addition he has spent a number of years in the educational field. The meeting is open to all interested students, who are invited to bring any questions they may have in order to participate in the discussion.

In addition to its evening meeting, the Drexel Christian Fellowship holds a student-faculty Bible study every Wednesday at 1 p.m. in Room 215. These studies are designed for an intelligent examination of the teachings of the Bible and their relationship to life today.

New Board Formed For Activities Center

The Student Activities Center Program Board, composed of representatives from day, evening, and graduate student bodies will be in charge of student events at the new Activities Center.

The new group will supplement the activities offered by other campus organizations in using the new building. Its goal will be to plan, present, and publicize events of a social, cultural, and recreational nature for the entire student body. It will operate independently with Miss Eileen O'Sullivan as its advisor, acting as its adviser.

The new group was formed from the old Student Activities Committee, but as well as graduate, evening, and undergraduate students, all of whom will use the new building. The Board will consist of a seven-man executive committee and various sub-committees composed of the students. The organization is still in its infancy, but people are calling for its full operation before long. Already, the board has decided on the first, the French Hop, scheduled for Friday night in the Grand Ball.

Mr. Albert to Address C&E Society Meeting

President Harvey Robinson, of the Commerce and Executive Society, has announced that the Society has been extremely fortunate in obtaining, as the highlight of its part in this Drive, a number of prominent business people, including Mr. Clarence G. Albert, the Deputy Executive Director for Development of the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Philadelphia. Mr. Albert will speak on the Redevelopment Authority's program of aid to institutions and church-related service through the entire city. The program will take place at 7:30 p.m. on October 31.

Mr. Albert was born in Rochester, New York and attended the University of Rochester from September 1944 to May 1947. He attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology from September 1947 to August 1950 when he received a bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering. His professional experience began as a junior planner on the Rochester City Planning Commission from June 1950 to November 1952. At this time, Mr. Albert became the Assistant Director of the Montgomery County Planning Commission, a position he held until January 1955 when he became Planning Director for the Klihbec Township Planning Board.

In November 1956, he became the Chief of Projects for the Allegheny County Planning Commission. He joined the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Philadelphia in July 1957 as a Project Coordinator for the City of Philadelphia Urban Renewal Authority. Involving Loan and Grant for Redevelopment, he was named Deputy Executive Director for Development, the position he now holds. Mr. Albert is an active member of the following professional organizations: American Society of Planning Officials, American Institute of Planners (Member), Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, American Institute of Planners, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Commission, Amherst.

The C&E Society invites all interested members of the student body to support the activities of this talk. The meeting will take place on Tuesday evening, October 2 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 215 of the Student Activities Center and will feature the Public Relations Officer for the Military Department.

Folks receive the Charter of Incorporation for the newly activated Drexel Student Council Foundation on Friday morning. Michael Kevorkian, President of the Association's Philadelphia Navy Chapter, Lieutenant Colonel Bills was the Assistant Professor of Military Science and Mr. Albert in the Public Relations Officer for the Military Department.

Heels Cause Problem On Grand Hall Floor

A problem yet to be solved in the new Student Activities Center is the protection of the beautiful wooden floors in the Grand Hall. As it now stands, ladies with "spiga" heels are not allowed in the Hall. All high heeled shoes, however, have metal tips on the heels, and the damage to the floors would be considerable if they were allowed. The solution is to provide plastic tips for heels, such as are found in the book on the walkboards in several resorts. These heel tips will be available at the lobby desk for all social functions held in the Grand Hall. Each time such as a suitable solution can be found, heights ladies of the Institute and woman visitors would not mind the inconvenience of shifting their shoes or putting on the proper rubber heel tips. It is essential, however, that some protective covering be applied to the floor as soon as possible.

Public Apathy Threatens U.S.

Great nations of the past have prepared their own herbal poisons and furnished their own snakes. Like all nations, we are facing a problem of survival. If we weather the storm it will be because of our inner strength and moral fiber.

Where are the American people? That question dishearteningly comes to mind when one considers our present-day situation. The American people, when it comes to moral and social issues that affect their survival, have failed to rise to the occasion. The average American public has failed to become informed, does little to exercise the will of the electorate, and exhibits an attitude that is more to college than classes. He is given more so to his books than to his fellow students.

We cannot continue to lavish the tax-paying public with a sea of misinformation and disinformation. We have reached the point where the government, when the battle starts—HERE?

The American public acts uninformed, or, if it is informed, does little to exercise the will of the electorate. In the past, the American public has failed to understand the true meaning of the word "friends". It believes that friends are those who will stand by them in times of trouble. It is more concerned with the government officials than with its own government. In the hands of the Communists, this is one of the biggest propaganda weapons.

We spend millions of dollars to aid the African nations, but our appearance and actions at home give Uncle Sam a two-faced appearance.

Unfortunately I could go on and on pointing out matters of this sort. The electorate is sitting at its doorstep. Do we realize the significance of this potential threat to our freedom, or will we wake up when the battle starts—HERE?

And what about our "integration problem"? One doesn't have to be a genius to realize the moral and social injustices gripping our society. American "citizens" and government officials have been flagrantly violating the precepts of freedom and equality set up by the founders of our great country. In the hands of the Communists, this is one of the biggest propaganda weapons.

We spend millions of dollars to aid the African nations, but our appearance and actions at home give Uncle Sam a two-faced appearance.

The best way to start your organizational planning is to become informed. If a publication is to be successful, it must involve the load of paper work that was necessary, Advance their political and moral campaigns. The editors of the Triangle have contributed to its success. Not so long ago, there was much ado in our local dailies concerning the burning of Negro churches throughout the South. It seems that these churches were being used for voter registration drives as a part of the overall integration movement. Now we read of the momentous forces that are assembling to rebid these newly established edifices and hasten civil rights. Better to have them remain unaltered than for them to be ruined for the despicable purpose that caused their initial destruction.

By this time there may have arisen among some of my readers of passionate indignation and also cries of segregation and reactionary. Aside from statements that I am above all the political corruption that goes with my own, I do not distinguish burning of the churches, just as I do the other civil rights crusades to use these churches to advance their political and moral campaigns. Converting these church centers of racial incitement seems more practical and should be eliminated, just as the burning of the churches are.

The motive for this article is simply to point that the peace and safety of the state and nation could be threatened. The latter is great political and, at times, prevailing in nature and should be eliminated. Just as Church and state must be separated.

The Unity of Knowledge

Part 2

It is almost trivial to review science education; but for the sake of symmetry I shall do that too. The emphasis on science in this new curriculum as though physics or chemistry were just special cases of a more general humanistic education is not to be envied. Physics would not be a subject which flourishes on the clouds of total abstraction. But it does make sense to apply the scientific method of inquiry to aid the historical development of man during which he learned not only how to survive, but also how to enjoy life.

But in the exact sciences a new, more complicated educational need has arisen. Modern physics has made certain discoveries in the past 20 years which have made the lives of man more meaningful and, in fact, has simply a measure of the quantity of matter; to give operational meaning to this concept, we must understand in which the mass of mass introduced. And this is one of the simpler problems of engineering. It is impossible to find a way to use one hand, can no longer set away with the introduction of “vital forces” to explain biological phenomena. No realm in literature get away with humanistic mechanistic determinism of the brain.

What has arisen is a need for the philosophy of science. And it is a need which is fulfilled in every single class, in every single course, in every single student. The answer is not a department of English. Rather it would be a department of philosophy and mathematics.

The Function of the Humanities

The humanities courses would teach students the habit of putting into action the ideas they claim they represent or discuss. In other words the humanities would be devoted to the task of supplying students with an operational meaning of “ought.” Adequate opportunities would be provided for all students to test their ability to make choices, for the prime activity in these courses would be interaction with other students on important questions. The emphasis should be on the student’s being prepared to hold, with the emphasis on the student’s acting in accord with the out- comes of the debate to be developed on the public platform, on the grounds of logical and empirical considerations. It would be made quite clear that every human being has a moral responsibility to his society, and that there are various means, and means of determining the moral responsibility of his actions.

DIT Women Get Lounge Facilities
In the new Drexel Activities Center, the needs of Drexel's women have been considered and facilities have been arranged to meet these needs.

The ladies of the Institute may now enjoy the comforts of the Women's Lounge located on the main level. Along with a sufficient number of couches and soft chairs are a quantity of ash trays and a full array of women's magazines. An added attraction found next to the lounge is a full array of women's magazines. An added attraction found next to the Women's Lounge in the Nap Room. The girls may use this room to catch up on sleep between classes and/or classes before evening meetings.

For a long time now, the Dean of Women's Office has been trying to locate an area in or near the Main Building to convert to a women's lounge. The new Student Senate tried to meet this need by buying furniture and controls for the room adjacent to the third floor ladies' lavatory. However, the accommodations which this room affords barely scratches the surface.

SCM Sponsors Luncheon
In participation with the dedication week program of the Drexel Activities Center, the Student Christian Movement is sponsoring a Dedication Week Luncheon on Friday, October 5, between 12:30 and 1:30 in Room 206 of the Drexel Activities Center. The guest speaker will be Mr. Martin Conway, Study Secretary for the World Student Christian Federation. The objective of the luncheon is to emphasize the validity of a united Protestant witness on campus and to introduce to faculty and students the purpose and activities of the Student Christian Movement at Drexel.

The hour from 12 to 1 will be available for viewing several displays such as:
1. A pictorial outline of the organization's dinner-discussion meetings.
2. Structural charts of the organization and its affiliations.
3. Various literature regarding activities and programs of the participating denominations of the Student Christian Movement.

Following this hour, luncheon will be served.

Pat and Paul Pesko, Protestant Ministers to Drexel and the Advisors to Student Christian Movement, will be available for personal introduction and conversation. Tickets can be obtained in the Great Court from Monday to Friday or in Room 206 of the Student Activities Center and are priced at $2.50.

Sigma Pi, Lambda Chi Win Summer IF Championships

The IF Volleyball season is past for another year, but as the saying goes, it will not easily be forgotten. This year's schedule produced two undefeated teams, one of which was Sigma Pi, who won the championship. The other, Alpha Pi Lambda, was not eligible for honors.

Sigma Pi Surprise

In order to win the championship, Sigma Pi, by surprise of the year, relied on tremendous teamwork and a great defensive game to defeat the powerful TKE team. TKE had won the right to face Sigma Pi by defeating Theta Chi in a play-off. In that game, the 0X men were just not able to stop the big "up-front" men of the TKE squad.

Balanced Power

In the championship game, Sigma Pi's type of pressure defense proved more effective than the TKE pressure defense. Thus, the team that was not even tired in the final standing when the season began showed everyone, and wound up with the winner's trophy. As was said previously, this season was one of the most exciting ever. The closeness of the finishes will attest to this. Any one of the three top teams, Sigma Pi, TKE, and 0X, showed potential championship form at one time or another during the season. However, as things stand, only one can be the champion. Sigma Pi proved in the championship game that they deserved this honor.

Lambda Chi Alpha Wins IF Tennis

The IF tennis championship went to an unusually powerful Lambda Chi Alpha team. They completely dominated the blue league en route to posting a 4-0 loop, the only unbeaten record in each division. Sigma Pi overpowered Tau Kappa Epsilon, winner of the gold league, 3-0. TKE had previously beaten Pi Kappa Phi after the two had tied for the gold league honors. Lambda Chi winners were first singles Joe Cells 6-1, 6-1; second singles Bob Rebe 6-1, 6-1; and doubles Dan Wilson and Bob Smed 6-2, 6-3.

Forgetting sorrow at this point, I wish to speak for a substantial number of people—even at Drexel—who have not relinquished their ideals to the honey-ombred plaudits of conservatism. Liberalism, reiterating an objective consideration of national and international affairs, must be allowed to salvage the world which has been scarred by avarice, suspicion, and misunderstanding. No matter how hard they may try, reactionary forces will not be allowed to make "altruism" a dirty word.

Now, so that I will not be called a hypocrite, let me clarify one thing: not all conservatives are reactionary; just as not all liberals are com- munist. Yet, it is interesting to notice, in the last few months, with some of President Kennedy's policies finally dying off (if not completely, then partially) and with the tide of Socialistic gains checked, that the conservative movement, with nothing new left to be said about it, has not seemed so loud. Indeed, the fanatic fringe has quieted.

This column will contain, from time to time, ideas in the foregoing vein. I have found, by experience, that the liberal spirit at Drexel is in a minority—yet it must be aired.
Dragon Eleven Opens Season Facing Coast Guard Academy

by Mike Applewhite

Dragon opens its fall sailing season Sunday, playing host to Swarthmore, Lehigh and Villanova. The regatta will take place on the Schuylkill River below the Brandywine Bridge Mansion Block. The races are scheduled to start at 12:00 Noon.

The sailing team is looking forward to a good season, with all members of last year's team returning to school. The schedule includes seven regular events with three of these to take place on the Schuylkill River. Other championship regattas may be entered, depending on the team's showing.

The first meeting of the Drexel Yacht Club took place Wednesday. Regularly scheduled meetings will be held throughout the season. Notices of these meetings will be posted on the Yacht Club bulletin board at the cabaret entrance steps. All people interested in sailing are invited to come to these meetings.
